GERMANS BAITING RUSSIA WITH NEW OFFERS OF PEACE OR PROLONGED ARMISTICE

TRIAL OF WILLIE PORTER FOR MURDER OF EMMA STALEY DISCLOSES POSSIBLE DEFENSES TO SAVE YOUTH FROM GALLOWS

NEW ANGLE BOBS UP IN PORTER TRIAL SATURDAY

TWO LINES OF DEFENSE FOR YOUNG MAN CAN BE TRACED THROUGH TESTIMONY.

ONE WILL BE ALIBI FURNISHED BY HIS WIFE

APPROACHING SHAME OF GIRL MAY HAVE CAUSED SUICIDE IS ASSERTED.

By Anne Austin.

Pilot, June 31.—District Attorney M. M. White played a trump card Saturday night in the exhibits under which he is attempting to send Willie Porter to the gallows in Porter's trial for the murder of Emma Staley.

He placed Dee Robinson on the stand to testify that Porter had told him he had been intimate with Emma since his marriage on November [illegible].

He clinched Robinson's testimony with that of Julia Miller, Emma Staley's chum, who stated that the dead girl told her of her delicate condition, naming Porter, on March 10, two days before her disappearance. Miss Miller testified that her chum asked her to come to the Staley home Sunday when she would tell her the details of her friendship with Porter, but that she was unable to visit her Sunday.

Both Robinson and Miss Miller testified the last time they saw Miss Staley was on Saturday night preceding the Monday she disappeared when Robinson, Emma Staley, Julia Miller and Floyd Jackson, constituted an auto party which went to Temple and Belton. Robinson testified that Miss Staley seemed to be in her usual good spirits Saturday night. Miss Miller declared the dead girl in confessing her condition stated she planned soon to leave her home.

Three other young men corroborated Robinson's testimony that Porter had told them of his intimacy with Miss Staley after his marriage and had asked their advice as to what to do under the circumstances.

Miss Miller Becomes Angry.

In her detailed testimony Miss Miller testified of a letter she saw Emma mail to Porter after his marriage.

The defense questioned her as to how she knew the letter was written by Emma. Miss Miller could not prove her point.

Miss Miller was questioned about boys with whom Emma and she kept company, but nothing damaging to the prosecution developed. Miss Miller became angry under Hair's cross-examination.

Says Porter Sought Advice.

John Graves testified that he had known the defendant practically all his life. He told about a conversation between Porter and himself, but was indefinite as to time. He said that Porter had come to him about his trouble with Miss Staley, and that he wanted help.

Graves said that he advised him to leave the county or to marry Miss Staley. The prisoner said that he did not want to marry her.

Porter subsequently left Belton, said the witness, but returned three weeks later, saying that he understood that "everything was all right."

Graves said that he read a letter from Emma Staley to Porter in which she said she "was better and thought she would be all right."

Graves said on examination that Porter did not talk of his marriage.

Defense Tangles Witness.

Other witnesses called by state to testify as to Porter's confidences in regard to his intimacy with Miss Staley were Finney Cowan and L. P. Archer, assistant sergeant at arms of legislature at Austin.

The former told of Porter's assertions as to his relations with the deceased.

On cross-examination Archer played into Attorney Hair's hands. Archer admitted that he had told Attorney Hair that no intimacy existed between Miss Staley and Porter after Porter's marriage. Archer testified, however, that he saw the couple alone off the public road one night, recognizing Porter's sorrel mare with two white feet.

Attorney Hair asserted that the mare had been sold prior to Porter's marriage. Archer could not swear that the girl was Miss Staley.

The defense is evidently trying to prove that intimacy ceased at or before Porter's marriage with 17-year-old Lucile Miller, a cousin of Julia Miller.

Through the maze of testimony of minor witnesses in the trial of Willie Porter Saturday two possible paths of defense could be dimly traced.

The clear, clean-cut defense of Porter on the charge that he lured Emma Readings—Maximum 102 in the shade 4 p. m.; minimum 75 at 5 a. m.; barometer 29.95; humidity 35 per cent; wind 114, fastest 11 at 5 p. m.

HOTTEST THIS YEAR.

Temperatures yesterday in Waco, reaching a maximum of 102 at 4 p. m., were the hottest of 1917.

JUST WAIT AWHILE.

The mercury touched 100 on the shady side of Austin street at 3 p. m. Saturday. Droppers-in at Sam Freund's thereupon opened that most popular volume of fiction entitled "Summer Weather." The consensus of opinion was that 100 in the shade is a "tolerable" temperature, but that we can reasonably expect 110 in the shade some time in July.

LOCAL DEALERS DECLARE POTATOES BY CARLOADS HELD UP IN WINDY CITY

In regard to the recent big drop in wholesale prices of potatoes and the small receipts reported by the Chicago dealers local wholesale houses are of the opinion that it is due to the fact that a large number of shipments are being held up.

Advice has been received that at Chicago alone there are 330 cars of potatoes in the railroad yards awaiting an outlet. They have been held up for more than a week while prices have dropped eighty cents to one dollar a bushel.

In Waco the price has been fairly steady, potatoes being offered at two dollars and it is not expected that any great change will be felt in the price.

COUNTY ENGINEER TELLS AUTOISTS OF TWO SCENIC SUNDAY AUTO DRIVES

Two routes that make splendid Sunday drives over good roads and through territory that has scenic beauty, one 16 miles and the other 38 miles in length have been mapped out for the benefit of the public by the office of R. L. Windro, county engineer.

The first loop route is as follows: Leave Waco at south end Speight street into the Robinson road. Turn to left at White City and follow Robinson road. Take first improved road leading to right known as Hewitt-Robinson road, follow into Temple road and back into Waco. This route is 16 miles in length and is over improved roads through the entire loop.

The second loop leaves Waco north on Elm street, out Dallas road to West Station, turn to left and take West-Tokio road. Turn back into Tokio-Gholson road, better known as Fort Graham road and follow back to Dallas road and into Waco. This trip is over splendid roads, most of it highly improved and all gravelled. The route is 38 miles in length.

SAN ANTONIO TO SEND 5 AIRMEN TO WACO MONDAY

AVIATORS WILL ARRIVE ABOUT NOON AND PLAN TO LIGHT AT HIGHLAND PLACE.

STARTING from San Antonio at 9 o'clock a. m., a squad of aviators of the United States corps of flyers, consisting of Capt. Bowen and four of his men, will reach Waco Monday about noon.

W. W. Cameron of the Chamber of Commerce received a telegram Saturday afternoon advising him of the proposed visit of the United States aviation squad, and with President J. M. Penland and Secretary H. D. Driscoll at once made arrangements for the landing place and comfort of the squad while they are here. It is not known how long the aviation squad will remain here, but it is certain that there will be a big crowd out to witness their incoming and outgoing. It also is very likely that Charles Theodore of Waco will go up to meet the incoming aviators, and will pilot them to the landing place, which will be properly marked.

The landing of a squad of aviators is a real thriller, as the men carry on certain evolutions in the air while waiting for their comrades to land. Just now, while there is such intense interest in aviation and aviation methods, etery act of the aviators becomes of special interest. It is expected by many that the war in Europe will be determined through the medium of thousands of aircraft of the United States.

There are a number of beautiful landing places around Waco for airplanes, and this city already boasts of an aviation school, with Charles Theodore in charge.

The visitors Monday will be properly received, and will find in Waco great interest in aeronautics, especially of the type which is designed to aid the country in this world crisis.

The landing Monday will be made at Highland Place, on a beautiful, level stretch, which will be properly marked. It is not known at this time what hour they will arrive, but the presumption is that it will be about 12:30, possibly a little earlier or later.

W. W. Cameron received a telegram Saturday from San Antonio directing that markers be placed by white crosses on the plain upon which the avaitors should alight, and to wire the location, preferably northeast, a short distance out of town.

Word has been received in Waco that the aviation camp at Dallas has not been definitely decided upon, and the coming of the aviators here tomorrow is awaited with keen interest.

U. S. CONTINGENT AT FRENCH PORT ARRANGING BASE

FRENCH GIVE U. S. SOLDIERS COMMAND OF TOWN AND DISCIPLINE.

ARRIVAL OF TROOPS IS SIGNAL FOR PREPARATIONS

WORK PUSHED FORWARD RAPIDLY AS AMERICANS HURRY TO WAR DUTY.

By Associated Press.

A French Port, June 28.—(Delayed by Censor.)—French authorities today turned over to the American military police authority for maintaining discipline in this town, which is now American in public life. In order to assist the Americans to keep order the authorities have issued stringent regulations which forbid the sale of spiritous liquors to men in uniform, which regulate the hours the men may be served in cafes and restaurants and which specify that disputes and disorders shall be referred to and decided by the Americans.

An official warning has gone out to cafe an restaurant proprietors specifying what prices they may charge for the most common commodities.

Officers and men on leave are permitted some liberty. No one in uniform may utilize the popular French sidewalk seats until after 5 o'clock in the evening.

Ban on Liquors.

The ban on spiritous liquors means that the troops here will henceforth be able to order only beers and light wines.

General Pershing, after a morning spent in inspecting the camp occupied by the soldiers who have been disembarking steadily from the transports, went aboard the flagship and ate luncheon with Rear Admiral Gleaves. Afterward both officers received the French and the American newspapermen.

Admiral Gleaves welcomed them and then General Pershing said to their guests:

"This is the happiest of the busy days which have been spent in France preparing for the arrival of the first contingent. Today I have seen our troops safe on French soil, landing from transports that were guarded in their passage overseas by the resourceful vigilance of our navy.

To Fight with French.

"Now our task as soldiers lies before us. We hope with the aid of the French leaders and experts who have placed all the results of the experiences at our disposal to make our force worthy in skill and in the determination to fight side by side in arms with the French army."

Rear Admiral Gleaves said:

"This is the happiest day of my life, when our navy is welcomed in a French harbor. I should feel that I was neglecting a wonderful opportunity if I did not record the earnest and serious co-operation I have received in my undertaking from General Sibert, his officers and men in this extraordinary overseas expedition."

Major General Pershing, true to his democratic principles, refused to haggle or delay over the nicetities of etiquette when the question was raised whether Admiral Gleaves should call on him, or he on the admiral:

"The point is, that I want to see him," the general declared. It was accordingly arranged as more convenient that General Pershing should go to the flagship as soon as he was free from the task of inspection.

Watched With Awe.

The sailors activities occupied all of yesterday and last night. Many of the inhabitants watched in wondering fashion the marching and countermarching as if to question whether the French or the Americans owned the town.

Notwithstanding the Klen here of thousands of soldiers, sailors and marines there had been a minimum of disorder and the strangers from overseas are proving more welcome to the townsfolk every hour.

SLIGHT DECREASE IS SHOWN IN REALITY DURING JUNE

June shows a slight decrease in amount of realty business as compared with May. In May of this year transactions to the amount of $555,692.46 were recorded. In June the records show $515,692.28 as the total amount. Several large real estate transactions have been made during this month and smaller deals have been recorded in large numbers.

AND NOW COMES BAKER TO CHARGE COAL CONFAB ACTED WITHOUT AUTHORITY

By Associated Press.

Washington, June 30.—Secretary Baker, as president of the council of national defense, repudiated tonight an agreement fixing a tentative price of $3 a ton for bituminous coal reached at a conference here Thursday between coal producers, Secretary Lane, a member of the council, members of the council's coal production committee and the federal trade council. Neither the council nor its committees, Secretary Baker said in a letter to W. S. Gifford of the council, has power to fix prices. He added that the price of $3 at the mines suggested for bituminous coal is "exorbitant, unjust and oppressive."

Secretary Daniels said the agreement would in no way affect coal purchased for the navy, which will continue to buy from the mines at $2.33 a ton.

The price fixing agreement was fixed after 400 coal operators had been called here for conference.

SUPREME COURT REFUSES REHEARING IN M'LENNAN COUNTY CASES SATURDAY

Special to The News.

Austin, June 30.—The supreme court today reversed and rendered case of Freeman, receiver, vs. Garratts, from Falls county, and continued for term Hanrick vs. Hanrick et al., from Falls county.

The committee of judges overruled motions for rehearing in three McLennan county causes: Brazos Valley T. and T. Company vs. Will Wilson; Brazos Power and Light company vs. Will Wilson; Southern Traction company vs. J. H. Frazier.

The supreme court adjourned until October.

SUN TIME FOR SALOONS SAYS AUSTIN HIGH COURT GIVES FEW MINUTES LONGER

Special to The News.

Austin, June 30.—Sun time will rule in the opening and closing of saloons in Texas, according to a final decision today by the supreme court in overruling the motion for rehearing in case of Terrell, Comptroller, vs. Walker, from Dallas county. The supreme court sustains the ruling of the court of civil appeals. Comptroller Terrell recently issued a notice to all saloon men in Texas that they must observe standard time until the supreme court had finally decided the case. Sun time being a little later than standard time, saloons will be permitted to keep open a few minutes later than heretofore.

NON-RETURN OF BAD EGGS PROBED BY CITY WEIGHER MUST BE MADE GOOD

Weights and Measures Inspector J. B. Strother states that several persons have called him up and asked him about the non-return of eggs which are found to be bad.

He was called because he has been visiting the grocery stores as well as other places in connection with weights and measures. He has referred those calling to Dr. R. H. Hodges of the pure food department. Mr. Strother stated, however, that eggs which are not good come under the head of "impure food" and that persons insisting can get good eggs in place of the bad ones, where they can prove that the eggs bought were bad and unfit for food.

HOOVER BETTER FURNISH INFORMATION IF HE IS DESIRING ANY LOCAL AID

If Mr. Hoover expects to receive the co-operation of the Waco bakers on his suggestion toward the standardization of loaves some advice will have to be given locally.

Several of the leading bakers were interviewed on the subject Saturday but none of them had any definite advice on the subject. The majority of the bread dealers have read accounts of the plan in the Washington press dispatches but no official communications have been received. They are in accord with the plan and when the project is outlined will give it their support.

BIDS ON COLISEUM TO BE OPENED MONDAY

Bids on Cotton Palace coliseum were not opened Saturday afternoon, but will be opened at 11 o'clock Monday morning.

It is hoped to be able to get the contract let and the work under way at the earliest possible moment. Plans were prepared by Milton W. Scott, architect.

Cotton Palace directors meet Monday night.

HINDENBURG IS REPORTED MOVING SPIRIT IN EFFORT TO SILENCE GUNS IN EAST

By Associated Press.

COPENHAGEN, June 30.—It is reported from German sources that Field Marshal Von Hindenburg in a wireless message again has offered an armistice to Russia. This time his wish is to suspend the tilities during the election of delegates to the Russian constitutional convention. The report has not been confirmed officially.

A Copenhagen dispatch June 17 said that the German government was considering the offering of an armistice to Russia for the period of the elections to the Russian constitutional convention. This arrangement was intended by the German authorities as a compliment to the Russian council to further the growth of pro-German sentiment in Russia and because Germany desires to see some stable government established at Petrograd with which it would be possible to enter into peace negotiations.

The elections to the Russian constituent assembly have been set for September 30.

TWO TEXANS ON SHIP DECK AS BIG TANK FALLS

PECULIAR ACCIDENT AT MILWAUKEE DOCK KILLS 11, INJURES 10.

By Associated Press.

Milwaukee, June 30.—Eleven persons met death and at least ten others injured, some seriously, late today the result of a fifty ton water tank erected on the Milwaukee river front toppling down on the whaleback steamer, Christopher Columbus, as she swung around preparatory to making her return trip to Chicago with about four hundred passengers. The steamer was in tow of two tugs, one fore and the other aft, when for some reason, as yet unexplained, the huge vessel rammed the East Water street dock abutting the warehouse of the Yahr and Lang Drug company with such momentum as to cause the steel supports which held the fifty ton water tank, to give way, resulting in the lofty reservoir crashing down hitting the vessel near the bridge and ripping through two decks, causing a panic and carrying death or injury, to all who were unfortunate enough to be in its path.

Fannie Jones, a university student at Chicago, who was on her way home to Coleman, Texas, was taken to a hospital suffering from broken legs and internal injuries.

Mrs. M. C. Grith, with an address only of Texas, was included in the list of injured.

DISCUSS TEXAS FAIRS AT MEETING IN WACO

On July 12 a meeting of the Texas Federation of Fairs will probably be held in Waco.

Preliminary plans for such a meeting have been arranged by Secretary S. N. Mayfield of the Cotton Palace and other members of the fair association. Round table talks will be held regarding the fair situation in general at the coming meeting.

PRES. WILSON VIEWS GAME OF BASEBALL—DEMOS BEAT G. O. P.—MAKE 45 ERRORS

By Associated Press.

Washington, June 30.—In presence of President Wilson, members of the cabinet and other high officials, the house of representatives democratic baseball team defeated the republican team 22 to 21 in a benefit baseball game for the Red Cross.

The game lasted three hours and twenty-three minutes and netted about $3,000 in cash and many thousands of laughs. Only forty-five errors were made by the two teams, leaving the old record of fifty-six undisturbed, but leaders of both sides pointed out that not a ball was caught by an outfielder on either team, a showing never duplicated in the many house baseball contests.

Clark Griffith, manager of the Washington Americans, umpired and muffed the first ball thrown out by President Wilson.

GERMAN CROWN PRINCE AGAIN LAUNCHES DRIVE ON VERDUN.

By Associated Press.

All of the troops of the American expeditionary force have reached France in safety. Major General Pershing said in Paris today that the transfer had been made without the loss or injury of a single American soldier and without a case of serious illness. Dispatches say that the trip was made on schedule time.

Verdun Fight Resumed.

The heaviest fighting on the western front is now on the Verdun sector. Over the same ground on which they met with such serious setback at the hands of the French last year, the Germans are making serious assaults with picked forces. For the most part their efforts have been nullified by the French but the Germans succeeded in retaining some conquered ground on the west slope of Dead Man's Hill.

On the Aisne front also the Germans are on the offensive. They attacked last night near Cerny and Corbeny, meeting with a French fire which all but annihilated their detachments. Northeast of Cerny they succeeded in gaining a salient which had been levelled by artillery fire. Whether these operations marked the resumption of a sustained offensive by the Germans is not yet clear. The official German statement throws no light on this subject merely mentioning the capture of 500 metres of trench line east of Hill No. 304 and of several French lines south of Laboville farm on the Aisne front.

Russ Maintain Fire.

The German war office said that the Russians are maintaining a strong fire over a front of forty miles in eastern Galicia and that a Russian attack evidently is eminent. The Russian official statement merely speculates on increased fighting in some sectors.

Angello Pass which the Italians captured recently in their advance front below Trent has been evacuated. Rome announces that the Italian advance forces have been withdrawn on account of the prolonged and violent bombardment of the Austrians, but the Italians still hold the eastern end of the Pass.

The French armored cruiser Kleber, 7558 tons, has been sunk off Point St. Mathieu while on her way from Dakar, Africa to Brest. She was destroyed by a mine with the loss of thirty-eight men.

FIELD ARTILLERY REACHES WAR STRENGTH OF 190 AT 8 O'CLOCK LAST NIGHT

War strength was reached before 8 o'clock Saturday night by Capt. Clark's light field artillery battery. Men flocked into the several recruiting stations all during the day and after war strength of 190 men had been recruited, applicants were still being received in order that the company would be full after the strict medical examinations had been passed.

This examination will come sometime during the present week, Wednesday or Thursday being the expected date.

Capt. Clark has been advised that his battery will be known as Battery E, Second Texas field artillery. This name has been officially recorded.

Immediately following the medical exams the men will be mustered into the federal service and their location for training will be determined. No advice as to the training camp that will be used by this unit has been given out but they will take their place with the other national guards in one of the camps designated to this branch of the service.

THIRD ATTEMPT TO BRING BACK CROCKER MEN

STEAM SAILING VESSEL NEPTUNE TO LEAVE ST. JOHNS, N. F., ON SEARCH.

By Associated Press.

New York, June 30.—The steam sealing vessel Neptune is ready today to leave St. Johns, Newfoundland, to make the third attempt to bring back to civilization the members of the Crocker Land expeditoin, marooned in the Arctic. Capt. Robert A. Bartlett, who accompanied Rear Admiral Peary to the Arctic, regarded as one of the most skillful of navigators of the frozen regions of the North, is in command of the Neptune.

The departure of this—the third relief vessel to be sent to the rescue of the Crocker Land expedition—marks one of the most costly enterprises of exploration. Two other vessels, the "George B. Cluett" and the "Danmark," made ineffectual attempts to bring back the explorers who four years ago went in quest of the mysterious Crocker Land, which Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary believed he had seen in 1906. The expedition was sent out under the joint auspices of the American Museum of Natural History, the American Geographical society and the University of Illinois, under the leadership of Donald B. MacMillan. What appeared to the eyes of the discoverer of the North Pole was declared by Mr. McMillan to be merely a mirage and the party has looked for Crocker Land in vain.

The MacMillan party, meanwhile, has been conducting explorations on its own account and has discovered six new islands, explored new lands, found extensive deposits of coal and other minerals and has gathered together a vast store of scientific knowledge. These scientists are proceeding with their professional work as calmly as though they were not exposed to dangers of starvation.

Physician Brought Warning.

Dr. Harrison J. Hunt, the surgeon of the expedition, who a few days ago came back to this country, after a thrilling journey of fourteen miles over the ice of Melville Bay, reported that unless help were sent his companions would be in dire extremity by August 1. The scant supplies were even then being rationed out to them. After midsummer they will be obliged to subsist as best they can upon the country and after the manner of the Eskimos. Walrus meat and caribou may possibly be obtained, but they will be dependent largely upon the fortunes of the chase. Dr. Hunt says that unless help is sent he fears fatality.

The Neptune, which will be soon on its way to Etah—the base of the Crocker Land expedition—is a vessel especially well equipped for such a mission. "The Queen of the Sealing Fleet," as she is called, is one of the stoutest vessels afloat and her stout ribs may well withstand the pressure of the polar pack.

In addition to her regular stores, she is carrying eight tons of food for the use of the Crocker Land party.

R. Henry Fairfield Osborn, president of the American Museum of Natural History and chairman of the honorary committee of the expedition, said the other day that he considered the scientific results obtained by the expedition fully justified its enormous cost. He expressed the hope that the general public would aid the institutions concerned in bearing the expense. George H. Sherwood, acting chairman of the committee in charge, says that he feels confident that, barring accidents, the Neptune will be back with the MacMillan party in the early autumn and that the expedition will reach a triumphant close.

How many are the demands of civilization is shown in the manifest of the Neptune. The supplies which she is taking north include hundreds of items. Among some of the stores in the hold are 2,000 pounds of pork, five barrels of sugar, five crates of yellow meal, four cases of oatmeal, five cases of sliced pineapple, two cases of evaporated apples, two cases of evaporated peaches, 150 pounds of butter and a keg of sour pickles.

Dehydrated vegetables are especially useful in the farthest North and in the stores are bone-dry spinach, carrots and such material. The solace of nicotine is thoroughly appreciated in the land of Arctic nights and therefore, in the consignment may be found smoking tobacco, cigars, cigarettes and corn-cob pipes.

In order to keep up amicable relations with the Eskimos, candies, jellies and other sweets are found useful, and, for the purposes of exchange, combs, buttons, scissors and the like are held in high esteem.

The children of the snows are also exceedingly fond of music and that is the reason that there are found in the cargo of the Neptune several phonographs with records bearing the liveliest of popular airs.

WEST BOARD ORGANIZED SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Local board No. 1 of McLennan county, on the draft matter, was organized at West Saturday afternoon.

The board stands as follows: M. Pazdral, chairman; B. B. Ingram, clerk; Dr. John Zvester. There are other boards in the county, which will organize at once.

AN EARLY START ON LOCK NO. 6

An early beginning of work on lock No. 6, near High Bank on the Brazos and about fifteen miles below Marlin, is indicated in a letter which has been received from Brigadier General and Chief of Staff of Engineers Black of Washington.

The letter was received by former Mayor James B. Baker, and states that Major E. N. Johnston is soon to relieve the late Major W. J. Barden and that he will give immediate attention to starting construction on No. 6, for which money already has been appropriated.

Also a letter from Congressman Tom Connally of Marlin to Mr. Baker gives this same information. Mr. Baker states that Congressman Connally is giving excellent attention to Brazos river matters.

DECLINE IS SHOWN NOW IN AUTO LICENSES ISSUED

A decline throughout the entire week on the number of auto licenses issued has been due to the change in the numbering system. Saturday marked the last day of the old plan and the licenses book at the county court house will be closed.

The numbers were rapidly reaching the 6000 mark, over 5900 having already been issued. There were no registrations on Friday or Saturday.

87 GERMAN MERCHANT SHIPS NOW IN U. S. SERVICE

By Associated Press.

Washington, June 30.—Eight-seven of the German merchant ships seized in American ports at the outbreak of the war were turned over by President Wilson to the shipping board today for operation. The other fourteen are already in the posession of the navy department.

Dear Sir:

In reply to your inquiry as to my opinion of your "Auto Shine'O," I want to say to you that it is the best I ever saw, in fact we had an old Ford which had been run in the country territory for about a year, which looked like it had come out of the Ark, but with about a couple of hours' work and one-half bottle of your Shine'O, everybody thought we had bought a new Ford. I am also using it on my Buick car, and every time we give it a shine it makes it look almost like new.

Trusting you will have great success with this, I beg to remain,

"Superior to anything in our entire stock," so says J. J. Twaddell, manager of Sherwin-Williams Co., of Caldwell's Auto Shine'O. Mr. Twaddell says Caldwell's Auto Shine'O is undoubtedly the best polish for its purpose that I have ever seen. It is superior to anything that we have ever had in our stock. The real merit of this polish lies in the fact that dust will not stick to it and it is also very economical, only a small quantity being required to polish a car.

FOOD SAVING SERMON THEME IN WACO PULPIT

PASTORS PLAN TO TALK TODAY ON NATION'S MOVE FOR CONSERVATION.

Sermons on food conservation as advocated by Food Commissioner Hoover will be preached in many of the Waco churches Sunday. This suggestion was made several days ago and was met with widespread approval all over the United States. In Waco the preachers have been advocating food conservation for some time and in many of their sermons have brought the subject before the people. However, a direct appeal will be made Sunday, ministers will devote their entire sermon to the subject and valuable advice will be given as to the best manner of conservation.

First Baptist.

Rev. J. M. Dawson, of the First Baptist church, states that already a number of food sermons have been delivered from his pulpit and that while no special service has been arranged for Sunday the conservation plan will be broached. This church has voted to hang a big American flag on the walls of the church and Rev. Dawson announced that the flag would be in place Sunday morning. This move was made in order that the people would realize that the church was one of the most patriotic institutions of the country and was ready to do its share in the salvation of the world.

At Elm Street.

Rev. E. V. Cox of the Elm Street Methodist church states that at the close of his revival a sermon will be delivered on food conservation and that advice will be given from time to time.

Re. Culer of the Austin Avenue Methodist church states that he will deliver an address on the subject at his regular morning service and that Hoover's plan will be carried out in detail.

"We are going to do our share," says Rev. Culver, "in feeding the nations of the world during the great war. If we can assist Mr. Hoover in his work we will spare neither time nor efforts and advice that is known to be right will be given from the pulpit."

Rev. Munger of the Morrow Street Methodist church is at the present in the midst of a revival. The food question will not be neglected, however, and an appeal will be made to the people of Waco to practice conservation in whatever manner possible from that church.

Staley from her home on March 12 and then killed her, will, of course, be the alibi testimony of his bride that Porter was home with her on the night the young girl was last seen. But the defense, from the line of cross-questioning developing today, indicated that it will attempt to show that all attending circumstances indicate that Miss Staley was not murdered at all and that she committed suicide in an effort to hide approaching shame.

The day's testimony was that of a dozen minor witnesses, including officers, clinching the state's case as far as identification of the body is concerned.

District Judge Spaun ruled with a firm and efficient hand, rushing thru the preliminaries that as usual clog the action of a murder case of this complexity. He did not order the usual Saturday half holiday and the crowd that packed the court room remained largely dinnerless rather than miss the afternoon session.

The line of argument of the quartet of lawyers defending Porter under which the suicide theory may develop first of all is expected to attack the testimony of the grey-haired mother of Miss Staley to the effect that she recognized Porter as the owner of the buggy into which her daughter climbed when she left home the night of her disappearance. They will cast doubt upon the probability of the mother failing to recognize her daughter's escort, if she had one, especially if she was influenced in the recognition by the statement of her daughter that she planned to go to a maternity home at San Angelo with Porter. Expecting to see Porter, the mother might even at a considerable distance thru the darkness imagine that she really did see him, may be the argument of the defense.

Move by Defense.

Under the circumstances, the defense is expected to argue, the suicide theory is the more plausible. The defense will maintain that there was every motive for suicide and every motive upon the dead girl's part that she should invent a plausible story so as to be permitted to leave her home in order to destroy herself without arousing the suspicion of her family.

And the defense in cross-examination is attempting to develop that Miss Staley's body was found in such a condition that the girl may easily have tied herself with baling wire that bound her limbs when the body was found. It is natural they will hold, that a mind almost crazed with brooding over her melancholy condition easily might have determined upon a disappearance so complete that after her death there could not be the aftermath of discovery and notoriety that the finding of a suicide's body engenders. In such a theory the reasoning would hold that the person determining upon death and disappearance would confine the limbs and weigh the body with rock in order to make death come the more quickly when she leaped from the bridge into the swollen waters of the Leon River.

Prosecution Confident.

The prosecution maintained an air of quiet confidence Saturday as the examination of witnesses progressed. The state relies particularly on the testimony of physicians who examined the body that the congestion of the head arteries indicated strangulation by pressure as a cause of death. The prosecution expects the testimony of the mother that she positively identified Porter the night of her daughter's disappearance to be so definite in detail that the defense will not be able to shake it.

Sale Continues Next Week

With Still Greater Reductions in Pianos and Player-Piano Prices

When we started this sale we termed it our "June Brides' Piano Sale"—and we have sold SOME pianos and player pianos to brides, too. But it really seems unfair to make all our appeal to newly married couples. Other folks want instruments, too. And, since we still have a large number of both pianos and players unsold, we have decided to continue the sale this coming week and so let everyone have an opportunity to take advantage of the exceptional values we are giving.

But as we have stated before, we reserve the right to discontinue the sale and raise our prices to the level of our competitors on Twenty-four hours' notice, if the volume of our sales drops off. It is only through "Quick Sales" and "Small Profits" that we can make these prices to the public.

TAKE ANY PIANO WE HAVE ON A 12 MTS. FREE TRIAL

12 MONTHS FREE TRIAL

Just suppose that you buy one of these pianos at the "rock-bottom" price we are making on our entire stock during this sale, and after you have the piano—any time in 12 months, in fact—you become dissatisfied with it. In such an instance we will permit you to exchange your used piano for any piano we have in stock, of equal or greater value, and will ALLOW YOU THE FULL PURCHASE PRICE OF YOUR OLD INSTRUMENT to apply towards the purchase of the one you select.

Your Money Back if Dissatisfied

We sell all these pianos on the MONEY BACK GUARANTEE PLAN. We mean that we guarantee every piano to be exactly as we represent it to be, that every piano is in perfect condition and that it is worth every cent you pay for it—or else we will refund to you every cent you pay for it. YOU TAKE NO CHANCE WHEN YOU BUY ONE OF THESE INSTRUMENTS.

ANOTHER BONUS SOON FOR KATY EMPLOYES

The recently announced wage bonus of 10 per cent to most Santa Fe employes will be distributed very shortly, it is announced by the management.

It also is announced that on February 1, next, another bonus of 10 per cent will be distributed, based on wages earned during the last six months of 1917. The new bonus, like the old one, affects employes whose salaries are less than $5000 per annum.

CITY TAX PAYMENTS WILL START IN OCTOBER

Tax payments for 1917 on city property will start on the first of October. The various cities of Texas have different dates for the collection of taxes and in some instances the work has already been started. Dr. Beck Says Hot Sun and Heat Weaken the Eyes

Tel's How to Strengthen Eyesight 50 Per Cent In One Week's Time in Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

New York, N. Y.—Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eyestrain or other eye weaknesses? If so you will be glad to know that, according to Dr. Beck, there is real hope for you. He says that exposure to sun, smoke, dust or wind often produces eyestrain, and people living in southern climates should frequently bathe the eyes and be careful to protect them from extreme light. This prescription will prove of great value to many eye sufferers. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without my glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully, now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seemed clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto Tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you even a little take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

NOTE—Another prominent physician to whom the above article was submitted said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is one of the few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." It is sold in Waco by W. B. Morrison.

WACO, TEXAS, SUNDAY, JULY 1.

FORRESTER-O'BRIEN WEDDING THURSDAY.

The Austin Avenue Methodist church was more than comfortably filled on Thursday evening when Miss Esse Forrester became the bride of John Leahy O'Brien of St. Louis.

The chancel had been banked with palms and daisies, the bride's chosen flower for the wedding, making the handsome church even more imposing than ever. The service was opened by Harry Lee Spencer at organ, who played a short prelude before Miss Sallie Keith rose to sing. Her voice is one of the most popular in the city and it was very sweet as she sang Coates' "The Awakening."

As Mr. Spencer began Lohengrin's "Wedding March," Miss Ella Flewellyn advanced down one central aisle, and Floyd Fouts of Houston down the other. Miss Hazel Spencer and Carlisle Rowntree came next, then Mrs. Calvin Cock, Miss Laurine Gay, as maid of honor, and Mrs. R. C. Scoffern as matron of honor.

The three little girls of the wedding party were Annie Clement and Lois Beth Scoffern, flower girls, and Virginia Coleman, ring-bearer. The little flower girls strewed sweet peas from white satin, heart-shaped baskets hung around their necks by white satin ribbons. The two wedding rings were borne on white satin pillows on a silver tray.

The groom was accompanied to the altar by his best man, Houston Bass of Dallas. The interest of the large crowd then centered on the bride, who was approaching on the arm of her father, W. H. Forrester, and the genuine admiration and astonishment at her beauty made it certain that no prettier or more popular bride has ever taken her place before the altar.

The Rev. F. P. Culver, pastor of the church, performed the double ring service, which is almost unique in this city. The ring which was placed on the finger of the bride was of platinum set with eleven diamonds. The ring which she placed on his finger was a plain band of gold.

After the words had been spoken, the matron of honor removed the little face veil and the bride and groom led the way out to the waiting cars.

The four bridesmaids were dressed alike. Their dresses were wonderfully pretty, being made of pink and yellow tulle over taffeta, with gold brocaded slippers. Bands of pink velvet crossed at the breast, outlining the deep V-necks. A very becoming pannier effect was achieved in the gowns, the sleeves of tulle being gracefully draped. The hats of the four attendants were of pink horsehair bride, trimmed with large pink roses. Miss Keith wore a charming frock of pink and blue tulle over pink taffeta, her hat being like those worn by the bride's attendants. The matron of honor was simply but very effectively gowned in white georgette and lace, with hat of white georgette. Her unusual beauty and grace of bearing won her many compliments.

The bride's dress was one of the handsomest ever seen in Waco. The material, real lace, was imported from Belgium, and her veil of spidery lace came from Mexico City. The train was of white satin, filmed with alusian, and embroidered heavily in pearls. Her slippers were of brocaded silver. For something old she wore a cameo which has been in the family for generations, and is a very artistic piece of jewelry. Her bouquet of bride's roses, orchids and lilies of the valley was as exquisite as all the other appointments of the dainty bride, and she presented it to her mother as a mark of the wonderful love and devotion which has always existed between the mother and daughter.

The reception held after the ceremony at the home of the bride was limited to the bridal party, the relatives and most intimate friends. The daisy was used in the three rooms open to the guests and the wedding cake was surrounded with the favorite flower. The cutting resulted in Mrs. Scoffern's finding the good luck piece, Miss Margaret Harkey the ring, and little Annie Clement the thimble. The dime was not found.

After the cutting of the cake sherbet and cake, in the bridal colors, pink and yellow, was served. The handsome array of wedding presents came in for a good share of the attention of every one. Telegrams from all over the United States and a cablegram from Ireland, the home of the groom, were received. Mr. O'Brien's father is the government physician of Ireland. Both the bride and groom are of Irish descent, the ancestral home of the O'Briens being Middleton House, that of the Forresters Morning Castle. The family crest of Mrs. Forrester, who is a descendant of James Polk, at one time president of the United States, was used on the wedding invitations, but Mrs. O'Brien will now be using the crest of her husband, who is of noble Irish descent.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrester presented their daughter with a substantial check and a deed to a valuable piece of city property. Quantities of cut glass, silver and china came in for days before the wedding, and they will soon be put to use in the new home in St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien left for Galveston, where they will enjoy the bathing for two weeks, stopping at the Hotel Galvez. They will return for a two weeks' visit to the bride's home, and will then leave for two weeks in the Ozarks before going to make their home in St. Louis.

The bride is one of the girls whom everybody knows. She is pretty and popular, and her cleverness in high school and the university is still talked of. She plays well and dances well and writes well and paints well, the last-named being her special talent. The groom, whom everybody is inclined to call "Jack" because he is such a likeable young man and so easy to become acquainted with, is connected with the Rice-Stix Dry Goods company of St. Louis. He was in business for himself in Waco at one time.

The bride's going away suit was of navy blue serge, with white vest and collar. A chic black hat and white boots completed her traveling costume.

There were several out-of-town guests for the wedding, among them Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Flint and Albert Flint of Temple, Mrs. Calvin E. Cock of Honey Grove, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Forrester of Belton and Mr. and Mrs. H. Coleman of Temple, Mrs. W. A. Harkey and Miss Margaret Harkey of Temple, and Mrs. Dr. Bickerson of Lampasas.

QUINIUS-DORAN NUPTIALS TUESDAY.

On Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the second Presbyterian church with Rev. J. J. Grier officiating, Miss Corinne Quinius became the bride of Mr. Joseph B. Doran.

The decorations were pink and green. The altar was banked with beautiful ferns dotted with pink oleanders festooned with baskets of trailing vines, all of which formed a setting for the bridal party.

Pink maline streamers marked the pews reserved for the family and immediate frinds as wll as the bride's Sunday School class.

While friends were assembling Mrs. John D. Strauss of Robinson rendered several appropriate selections.

Promptly at 8:30 Miss Noema Burkes of Belton announced the arrival of the bridal party by sweetly singing "At Dawning." Both wore pink costumes combining taffeta and georgette with corsages of sweet peas and ferns.

Then to the familiar strains of Lohengrins wedding march, Miss Bertha Clark of Belton was the first of the bridal party to enter. Following alternately were the other maids and groomsmen, who were Misses Rebal Epperson, Jessie Simmins and Willie Raborn; Messrs. Dick Stone, Sam Arnold, Gabriel Harmon and C. W. Rhea. The maids were gowned in white fillet net combined with lace and caught with pearls over pink under dress. Each carried an arm bouquet of pink gladiolas and ferns.

Next came the bride's eldest sister, Miss Allie Quinius, as maid of honor and Mrs. Henry Quinius as matron of honor, handsomely gowned in delicate green georgette elaborately embroidered in pearls. They carried arm bouquets of pink gladiolas and ferns.

Little Jack Strauss bearing a pure white lily containing the ring preceded the fairy like little Miss Elizabeth Rathell of Dallas who strewed rose petals from a gilded shepherdress basket, in the pathway of the bride.

Leaning on the arm of her father the bride was met at the altar by the groom attended by Mr. Herman Quinius as best man. She looked her loviest in her bridal gown of satin and georgette with rose motiffs designed in pearls, long colurt train and veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley.

Immediately following the beautiful Episcopal ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 1801 Sanger avenue, with the bridal party in formal line headed by the host and hostess. Assisting in the home was Mesdames Grier, Stubblefield, Ligon, Ragland, Humphreys, John Strauss, W. S. Rathell of Dallas and W. N. Lazenby.

The cutting of the bride's cake resulted in Dick Stone cutting the dime Sam Arnold the thimble, Jack Strauss the ring. The color scheme of the wedding was effectively carried out in the home decorations also.

Pink and white ice cream and angel food cake were served by Miss Mary Clayton, Marie Peyton, Mollie Simmins, Grace Stearns, Dorothy Simmins.

Among the many handsome gifts and telegrams galore was a chest of silver and a complete bod room suite of bird's eye maple from the bride's parents.

Before departing the guests were asked by Mrs. Walter Quinius to register in the bride's book.

The bride gave her maids gold lingerie clasps, the small tots gold rings while the groom remembered his attendants with stick pins—the birhtsone of each surrounded by pearls.

The groom is a capable young business man having assisted in Toby's college but more recently affiliated with A. and M. college. While there he was actively interested in Co. E, Second regiment from which his groomsmen were chosen.

The bride is from a well known and highly esteemed family. Her many accomplishments have endeared her to a large circle of friends.

The bride's going away suit was of navy blue with harmonizing accesories of grey. Mr. and Mrs. Doran left for a six-weeks stay in New York and other eastern cities. Returning by boat they will make a short stop in New Orleans.

Best wishes of a host of friends follow this young and happy couple in their new life.

WHITE HALL PRISCILLAS

The Priscilla Club of White was entertained in the hospitable home of Mrs. J. W. Jones on Thursday, a full quota of members being present.

The question of raising money for the Red Cross was discussed and it was decided to try to augment the funds by the sale of crochet work and other kinds of fancy work.

After refreshments were served, the club adjourned to meet next time with Mrs. Harold Hayes.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING THURSDAY EVENING.

A very pretty home wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. Florence Fink Thursday, 8:30 p. m., when Miss Florence Fink became the wife of Mr. K. G. Taff.

Mrs. R. E. Arrington of Marlin played Mendelssohn's wedding march, and during the ring service, which was performed by Rev. D. A. McGuire, she softly played the "Flower Song." The bride's only attendant was Miss Gladys Fink, becomingly gowned in white Georgette. The bride wore a navy blue taffeta coat suit with white hat, gloves and boots. She carried an arm bouquet of carnations.

The ceremony was performed under an arch of vines and daisies, from which a wedding bell was suspended.

After receiving congratulations, Mr. and Mrs. Taff departed for a brief honeymoon trip to points in South Texas.

Among the handsome gifts received was a chest of silver from a cousin of the bride. A cedar chest was the

Women Everywhere Use Lemon Juice To Beautify Skin

The beautiy lotion which is becoming so popular throughout the country is easily prepared by anyone, and a whole quarter pint of it doesn't cost any more than a small jar of the common, ordinary cold creams.

Add the juice of two fresh lemons to three ounces of orchard white and shake well in a bottle. Strain the lemon juice two or three times through a fine cloth so no pulp gets into the lotion, then it will keep fresh for months. Regardless of what price you pay or how highly advertized, there is nothing else really more meritorious in beautifying, softening and clearing the skin. As a tan and blemish remover, also to remove oiliness and sallowness, lemon juice has no rival. Massage it into the face, neck and arms once or twice each day, and just see if it doesn't bring out the roses and hidden beauty!

Lemons have always been used to bleach the skin, but pure lemon juice is too highly acid, therefore should never be used except in this manner.

If properly prepared, this sweetly fragrant lotion will speak for itself. Any drug store will supply the three ounces of orchard white at very little cost, and the grocer will supply the lemons.

GIVE SURPRISE SHOWER FOR MISS VERA COBB.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Will Williams and Mrs. C. H. Wallace at the home of the latter surprised Miss Vera Cobb with a miscellaneous shower in honor of her approaching marriage to Mr. Elmo Brown, a promising young business man of Normangee. The rooms were cleverly decorated with cobs and brown ribbon, suggestive of the names of the bride and groom to be. Shasta daisies and ferns were used artistically. After the assembling of the guests the honoree was given the end of a brown ribbon and instructed to follow this on a journey through life, each stop indicating some great event in her future. At last the ribbon led her to the hidden treasure. On the table was a huge box covered with brown cobs. But most delightful of all were the gifts inside. Everything from crepe de chine to aluminum cooking utensils. After admiring the gifts, the guests were served cream and cake. Toasts were then given to the bride by Miss Ruth Branch; to the groom by Annie Pippin; to the girls left behind by Miss Blanch Custer; to the mother, by Mrs. E. W. Connors; to the mother-in-law by Miss Anna Mai Word. After refreshments, Mrs. Wallace, Misses Vera and Estella Cobb sang several Hawaiian songs with piano and ukelele accompaniments. KILL-KARE CLUB MRS. JOE MORGAN.

Mrs. Joe Morgan was this week's hostess to the Kill-Kare Klub. Anticipating the Fourth of July, Mrs. Morgan used the patriotic color scheme, decorating her house with ferns, daisies, sunflowers, and many United States flags. The score cards were marked with small flags and the refreshments of cream and cake also did homage to the tri-color scheme. In the games of bunco, Mrs. C. E. Lyons won head prize, a box of correspondence cards. Mrs. J. P. Boynton cut consolation, and was presented with a piece of ivory. Those playing substitute hands were Miss Jennie Davis, Mrs. Harmon Bolton and Mrs. J. W. Lindloff. The next hostess will be Mrs. C. E. Lyons, 2828 Gormon, who will entertain Thursday evening, the husbands being invited also.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED OF MISS MAUD BROWN.

Much interest is being taken in the approaching marriage of Miss Maud Brown, who is to be married on July 25 to Mr. Edmond A. Schwarting.

Relatives and a few life-long friends had been invited to a small party on Monday. The entertainment during the early part of the evening took the form of a guessing contest, each member of the party wearing an emblem of a flower. The winner in the contest proved to be Miss Gayley Wilkes, who was presented with a hand-embroidered bag. After the prize had been awarded the guests were invited to the lawn, where the punch bowl was placed. A glazed frame, surrounded by electric lights, flowers and ferns, was surrenly flooded with light, revealing the names, "Maud and Ebb, July 25."

This announcement proved to be a genuine surprise to every one. The

DANCE AT ELKS CLUB TUESDAY.

A subscription dance will be given at the Elks club Tuesday evening by the younger set, composed principally of boys and girls just out of school. They are having one good time after another, the hot weather being no deterrent after the long restraint of school. This is only on of the many dances that they have been enjoying lately. Swimming parties are also receiving attention from them, popular Spring Lake seeing some of them every day.

The social at Mrs. Lane's for the South Third street Parents and Teachers association is postponed until further notice.

FRED WOLFE'S TEAM LED RED CROSS FUND

To Fred Wolfe and his team goes the honor of raising the largest amount of money in the Red Cross campaign, which is closing in Waco and McLennan county.

And to Mart goes the distinction of raising the biggest sum that was raised at any point outside of Waco in McLennan county. Chairman W. W. Seley of the Waco Red Cross Saturday received a check from Mart for $1,602. Some other places also sent in substantial checks, among these being McGregor and West.

The team of which Fred Wolfe was captain secured $2,067.15, with the team of Capt. George Rotan right on his heels with $1,900.50. Two or three other teams raised more than $1,000.

It is estimated that the grand total will be very close to $30,000. Had crop conditions not looked so discouraging it is probable that a much larger sum would have been raised.

NO ADVANCE IN WACO ON OIL PRODUCTS

The predicted advance in the price of crude oils, the prediction being from John D. Rockefeller, has not made itself felt here, directly or indirectly, stated some of the local oil men Saturday. The management of the Gulf Refining company said that no quotations are received here as to the crude oil market, as only the refined products are handled here. There has been no advance in the prices of refined products recently, it was stated, and no notification has been received of a contemplated advance.

WOMEN TELLING AGES; REGISTER FOR U. S. WORK

OLD LEGEND FAILS THEM AND NUMBER OF SUMMERS PROVES NO BAR.

Special to The News.

New York, June 30.—When the final results of the state military census are compiled and published, the obituary of the old, old legend about a woman and her age might well be added. One of the most important and one of the earliest facts actually discovered during this registration time has been woman's absolute willingness to tell unblushingly the number of summers to her credit. One of the other surprising results has been the disposition of the women registrars to agree on the whole that most of the women who registered looked far younger than the age they freely gave as their own.

"That poor old joke is so worn out and so feeble that it has no one left to support it," sighed Mrs. John Blair, publicity chairman of the New York State Woman Suffrage party. Mrs. Blair has been captain of the seventeenth election district in the twenty-ninth assembly district and she has been on her job every day. "Let us, in all kindliness, bury the remains and then hasten to forget all about it," she added. "New York women have killed it for any future use."

The ladies have been showing their medals in this census. On one side of the tables in the registration booths sat the volunteer who had offered to help take the census, gratis, for her state and country. On the other side the women who had come to tell who they were and what they could be counted on to do in time of emergency. Each worked as quietly and quickly as she could to play her part in keeping the machinery in motion. In some districts women acted as supervisors and in others they worked under male supervision. With all due respect to the latter, it was almost unanimously agreed by the women that the work ran more smoothly in those districts which were manned entirely by women than in those where the men were at the helm. Credit for this was given by them to Mrs. Mabel Russell of the New York City Woman Suffrage party, who had all of the supplies at hand in each booth several days before they were needed. Miss Mary Garrett Hay, chairman of the New York City Woman Suffrage party, acted as supervisor for the seventeenth assembly district and Miss Camilla Morgan for the twenty-ninth assembly district. Miss Morgan was very ill for the first few days, however, and directed all of her captains and the 2,000 volunteers under her from her bedroom, over the telephone. This suffrage organization supplied 10,374 workers in the 591 election districts under their charge and the National League for Women's Service had 6,000 workers on hand for the work they had undertaken in the twenty-third assembly district. Miss Edith Brownell, as supervisor, was forced to ask for ten members of the Home Defense league to assist in ten of her registration booths during evenings. There was no trouble of any sort, but then at times the booths were too crowded to be handled entirely by women. The men could keep order.

Pretty students of Hunter college were the volunteers who worked in the booth established in their building. On all other occasions the room used is the Faculty club tea room, but for the past two weeks it has been crowded with women and children.

In many of the shops it was not unusual to see a whole family come marching in at the same time. The husband and father would register first, and then explain in detail to his wife, that she might answer the many questions. While the wife and mother was registering, the family maid would be caring for the children, and then when her turn came, she would hand the youngster back to the mother, and then follow the directions of the head of the house, and answer the questions as they were made clear to her.

In every registration shop visited the list of registration blanks showed that the majority of women were not going to far distant fields to tell their dearest secret. They all went to the booth nearest their home.

In the Bronx and Richmond the Suffragists had full charge of the census, the Bronx headquarters at No. 406 East One Hundred and Forty-ninth street being the official headquarters of the Bronx cnsus committee.

In other boroughs the Suffragists co-operated with other men's and women's organizations. Four members of the party were sworn in as deputy census directors. They were: Mrs. F. Louis Slade of Manhattan, Mrs. Frederick Cranford of Brooklyn; Mrs. Daniel Appleton Palmer of the Bronx, and Mrs. William G. Wilcox of Staten Island.

One of the many queer little half-formulated ideas which women of the east side seem to have about suffrage appeared in the questions asked by one of them when she came to register. She wanted to know what would happen to her babies when she was forced to join the army. In explaining her fear to the registrar she said that she thought whenever any one signed a suffrage paper that surely meant that they were able to do anything that a man can do and that the registration was to draft an army of women. Just a little bit of some suffrage argument had found its way to her brain and lodged there.

One of the few complaints from any of the women was that of the impostor who came to give directions. In one of the shops where the women worked a young man came saying that he had been sent from the offices of the director of the census, Ernest Goodrich, to tell the women that they were not making out the slips correctly. This man succeeded in borrowing a few dollars from one of the women, but that and a pleasant afternoon with the girls and ladies in question was all that he got for the time he wasted there.

Of Interest to Women

THE HOME ASSOCIATION MEMBERSHIP RALLY.

The Home association, in order to continue the efficient work it has done during the last twenty-five years in furnishing a refuge for women temporarily out of employment or temporarily unable to work, and making a permanent home for old women whose ability to earn a living is past, has been conducting a quiet campaign for new members. The increased cost of all provision making it necessary to augment the number of pledges for its support in order to keep the bill paid each month.

There are sixteen old women who know no other home and each month there are from twenty-five to thirty different people cared for at the home for all or a part of the time. This entails an expense of over a hundred dollars per month, which is met by small yearly subscriptions. It takes a good many yearly pledges to make a hundred dollars a month, and the larger subscribers are few.

It is to keep this institution on a sound financial basis that this appeal is made, and any one interested in carrying on this well-established work, which has been proven of inestimable value, is invited to attend the membership rally at the Public Library, Tuesday morning, July 3, at 10 o'clock.

All members of The Home association are also urged to be present and report the names of new members which they have secured and bring in what they have colected.

MRS. H. C. BLACK,
Second Vice-President.
MRS. J. W. HALE,
Treasurer.

SUFFRAFE FROM ANOTHER VIEWPOINT.

For some time we have been printing a column of suffrage notes. All material sent in has been in favor of the movement, but Thursday's mail brought a discussion from another viewpoint, by Mrs. T. A. Pankey:

When the serpent entered the Garden of Eden it sowed the seed of discontent with many other evils which follow in its wake.

It has pervaded every class of society. It has corrupted nations and broken up homes.

More than sixty years ago a few of the strong monded women (as they are called) in one of our eastern states felt the microbe working on their nerves and decided that man was cheating them out of a divine right—that of the ballot. The privilege was their just right, and must be obtained at any cost—and this one thing would bring contentment. So the harem was set to work and the little ball has been growing until nine of the states have made it possible that our sex can be made happy and contented by going to the polls.

Wyoming has had woman's suffrage forty years; Colorado, thirty years; others less time. Are conditions any better than before? Will the right to vote make us better women, better wives, better neighbors, better mothers, better sisters? It hasn't had that effect on all women.

Of course, the ballot means politics. There is no process whereby politics can be purified. We can recall some strong, splendid men that have been corrupted by politics. As we are made of the same material, the same influences would naturally effect us the same. Of course, women would not be expected to solve great problems of church and state.

The time has been when woman's greatest charm was her modesty. Man loved her because she trusted him; had faith that he would shield her from the unpleasant things of life.

The necessity of battling with the practical things of life have been forced upon many of our sex but with due respect, I am sure that it has not had a refining influence upon them. The suffragists proved this in Washington, D. C., a few days since.

"Taxation without representation" was settled long ago by the force of arms and the little taxes that a few fortunate women have to pay is offset by the protection they get in being a citizen of this America.

If the mothers will do their whole duty in the home, I am sure they will have the satisfaction of knowing that their husbands and sons will make it possible for them to live under laws that will protect their home and loved ones with any financial interest they may have.

All good government is born around the hearthstone. The study of the Book of Proverbs and the following of its teachings by parents will strike the keynote and answer the question why this institution for boys at Gatesville and the same for girls at Gainesville? The ballot will not answer this questions.

MRS. T. A. PANKEY.

R. is asked to provide herself with a No. 5 or No. 3 knitting needle.

The chapter expects to devote its funds this winter to the Navy league, the local Red Cross, and to the scholarship at Denton, which they have kept up for some time.

TEXAS BIGGEST CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR CONVENTION.

The Christian Endeavor convention which has just been held in Houston was the biggest convention of its kind ever held in a Texas city. A brief report follows:

"Dixie leads all the world in Christian Endeavor growth and Texas leads Dixie," said Southern States Secretary Karl Lehmann of Birmingham, Ala., at the opening session of the twenty-eighth annual convention of the Texas Christian Endeavor union in the First Presbyterian church, Houston, on Thursday, June 14. He told of the fact that 1,500 new societies and 85,000 new members have been added in the South in the last twenty-two months; and of these 1,500 new societies Texas has organized 480.

1,075 Delegates.

The largest registration that there has ever been at a Texas convention in fifteen years yas 345. The Houston convention registered 1,075, and Houston entertained them in the most generous and elaborate style that a convention has ever been cared for in this state. Absolutely nothing was left undone to make every delegate hapy.

New Officers Elected.

Rev. J. B. Gonzales, pastor of the Central Congregational church, Dallas, was elected president; S. J. Shettlesworth of Tyler, vice-president; Miss Ada Pearce, Abilene, secretary; Miss Jessie Grider Butts, Fort Worth, assistant secretary; Miss Lillie C. Bringhurst, Houston, treasurer.

The treasurer reported all bills paid and a balance in the treasury, and the convention adopted a budget of $5,000 for this year; this is more than double the amount of any past year.

Two field workers were employed for the year, W. Roy Breg of Dallas, general secretary, and Atwood A. Hyde of Sherman, field secretary. Only two other states in America, Ohio and California, have two employed Christian Endeavor field workers.

Fort Worth Wins.

Dallas, Amarillo and Fort Worth were in a spirited contest for the 1918 convention, which was awarded to Fort Worth.

A great missionary campaign was launched to raise $5,000 for the denominational missionary work of the churches this year; this is a part of the All-South campaign to raise $15,000 for this purpose.

The convention voted to send State Treasurer Miss Lillie C. Bringhurst of Houston to Chattanooga July 11-15 to the Southern Christian Endeavor Workers Conference, and Field Secretary Hyde of Sherman to Winona Lake, Ind., July 3-6 to the meeting of the trustees of the United Society of Christian Endeavor and the Field Secretaries of America, and General Secretary Breg of Dallas to both meetings.

Poling Speaks.

"Twenty-five thousand Southern Christian Endeavor young men will be in the uniform of their country in the next year," said Daniel A. Poling of Boston, associate president of the United Society of Christian Endeavor. "Our Christian Endeavor societies must go at once to the Y. M. C. A. secretaries in the army camps and offer their services for anything we can do to help in the work among the soldier boys.

"We must keep our churches open seven days in the week with a hearty welcome to the men in uniform.

"We must do all within our power to keep the spiritual fire and church life alive and aggressive in these troublesome times."

Landrith of Chicago.

Rev. Ira Landrith, D. D. LL. D., of Chicago, extension secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, inspired the people who packed the auditorium with his wonderful eloquence, quips and wit, and stressed prohibition so strongly that if his words could be sounded throughout the nation we would shortly enjoy not only national prohibition but world prohibition. "Without doubt in the next thirty days we will see national prohibition as an emergency war measure," said Dr. Landrith.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES FOR THE WEEK.

Last Wednesday at the Y. M. C. A. seventy-five girls enjoyed the use of the swimming pool. The girls were divided into classes and it is hoped that everyone will learn to swim well before the summer is over. Next Wednesday a list of swimming and diving "stunts" will be posted and when a girl accomplishes a "stunt" it will be marked on her card. If any girls would like to join these classes, 'phone to the office before Wednesday. No girl will be allowed to enter the pool unless she presents her membership card at the door.

Friday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock the war relief work for the Junior Business Girls will be organized. If we all realized how much the soldiers need everything, we would not hesitate to give one hour a week. Come and feel that you have a shore in this tremendous work.

Now is the time to register for the Y. W. C. A. camp. Machines will leave the Y. W. C. A. at 6:30 o'clock promptly during the week and 7:00 o'clock on Saturday nights. If you wish to go out for one night, register at the Y. W. C. A. before 10 o'clock the morning you want to go. No girls under 18 years of age will be allowed unless accompanied by a parent or older person.

Each girl must register and pay in the office before she leaves. Rates per week, $3.50; per day, 50 cents. Special rates, week ends and holidays, $1.00.

News From Baylor

Big preparations are being made for an unusual and very patriotic celebration of the Fourth at Baylor this week. By vote of the faculty this is a holiday for all students and officers of the university, and a special committee was appointed this year to arrange for a celebration that would indicate in a fitting way the spirit of patriotism in the school.

Programs are to be mailed out which will read as follows: "Be patriotic; join Baylor university in a sun-rise flag-raising in honor of the immortal Fourth of July and its hallowed memories. Six a. m. sharp.

Dean J. L. Kesler of the college has gone to New Mexico as the representative of the educating commission of the Southern Baptist convention to investigate the need for a Baptist college in that state and to consider the advisability of founding one. During the past two weeks Dr. Kesler has been lecturing at the Y. W. C. A. encampment at Hollister, Mo.

Dr. A. J. Armstrong has just closed a contract with the noted English poet, John Masserfield, to appear at Baylor in February of the coming session of 1917-18. Masefield has been for several years one of the most popular modern poets, and has been in great demand as a lecturer in the larger colleges and universities of England and America. His recent participation in the war by "doing a bit" in Mesoptamia and Turkey has greatly increased his fame, and makes his coming of interest to all who may be interested not only in modern poetry but in the recent activities of the war. The coming of such men as Masefield to lecture in America signalizes more strongly the ties between America and the members of the Entente. Masefield's poetry is much admired and praised very highly by the leading modern critics, and his coming to Baylor will be one of the chief events of the year.

Mrs. A. J. Armstrong and son, Max, leave Saturday for Colorado Springs, Boulder and Estes Park. They will be gone ten weeks, and Dr. Armstrong will join them later in the summer.

The campus feature of the week will be a lecture by Curator John K. Strecker of the Baylor museum on the "Wanton Destruction of Our Birds." Mr. Strecker is well known as a naturalist and collector not only in Waco, but all over Texas and the southwest. He has studied very carefully the Texas birds and the means that must be adopted in order to save them from their many enemies. His lecture will be illustrated by steropticon slides which show how many of our most valuable birds, their haunts, their nests, and their enemies. Mr. Strecker is a very interesting and entertaining speaker, and his intense interest in his subject will make the lecture one that not nature or bird lover can afford to miss.

FASHIONS FOR AMERICANS

The sketch illustrates an early fall model frock combining navy serge and black satin in a rather unusual and striking manner. The entire front half of the gown is of serge, with back of satin. Satin is also employed for the sleeves.

The back is quite plain, skirt and bodice being slightly full and joined at the waist line by the narrow belt of serge, which is ornamented with a scroll design in every narrow black silk soutache braid. The satin skirt at the center back is cut about five or six inches shorter than the skikrt proper, so that the band of braided serge shows well below it, and the side sections, attached to the back, of course, are drawn in to suggest a drapery, each section being finished with a silk tassel.

This model is only one of the many simple designs for fall and winter wear. The main point is that navy serge and black satin form the most popular fabric and color combination yet reported. Frocks entirely of black satin are to be strongly approved. Sometimes these black satin dresses are plain, depending for distinction on collar and cuffs of white lace. Irish crochet lace is being extensively used for the purpose, and the heavy and rich-looking Macrame lace is also given a new lease of life.

There is difference of opinion among designers as to the preferred silhouette for fall. One well-known American designer has declared herself in favor of the absolutely straight Egyptian lines; some favor an Empire suggestion; the Directoire influence is noted and a slight side flare, or as one designer says a silhouette that suggests an elongated oval, is also in evidence.

There appears to be a growing conviction that American women are at last developing a spirit of independence in dress and that they may now be depended upon to wear what is becoming, regardless of iron-clad style rules. When women cease to be slaves to style they will have accomplished real emancipation.

MAXWELL SALES UNUSUALLY GOOD

"The Maxwell is selling as never before," says V. M. Washam of the V. M. Washam company, local dealers for this popular car. "We are well pleased with the results of our last week's work and our sales have held up in a remarkable manner. The Maxwell is proving to be the best buy for the man who wants an economical car and the buyers of this section are rapidly becoming acquainted with the fact.

"Demonstration and tests all over the United States have proven that a Maxwell will do more than its share with a gallon of gasoline and in this time of high-priced fuel that in itself is a vital point. The auto buyer realizes it and among the leading questions that are asked the salesman is, How far will it go on a gallon of gas?"

RIM SUITS AGAINST TWENTY

Twenty demountable automobile rim suits will follow the one won by Louis de F. Munger Wednesday from the Perlman Rim corporation, on the ground of patent infringements, according to William A. Redding of 38 Park Row, his attorney. Munger was widely known as a bicycle racer in the days when that sport was prominent, and if the higher court sustains the decision in this suit he will be raised from the position of one who had to borrow money to carry on his legal fight to affluence.

"We expect to sue without delay every company that has been making demountable rims in the period covered by our decision," said Mr. Redding, "and our information is there are not less than twenty, counting large and small concerns. We claim that royalty is due on 5,000,000 demountable rims, all told, and if the courts award us only 25 cents a rim the total would be a tidy sum, but if we receive what Periman did when he won his rim suit from the Standard Welding company, said to be $1.50 a set, the amount would be much greater.

"Munger's patent, issued in 1899, expired last September, and under the law we are only permitted to recover for six years prior to the date of expiration, and from that the time that elapses from September until the bringing of the suit must be subtracted."

A representative of the Periman Rim corporation said his company would appeal the case. "In any event," he asserted, "our patent stands, as its validity is not questioned in this case."

Surprised.

NEW AUTO HEADLIGHT LAW SOON IN FORCE

After several years of agitation a law regulating automobile headlights has been placed on the statute books of New York state. Many accidents have been traceable to uncontrolled headlight glare, and the law will be welcomed by motorists generally as a needed safety-first measure. It goes into effect August 1. The new regulations as taken from the law itself are as follows:

"1. Brakes, horns and lamps (signaling at crossings). Every motor behicle, operated or driven up the public highways of the state, shall be provided with adequate brakes in good working order and sufficient to control such vehicle at all times when the same is in use and a suitable and adequate (bell) horn or other device for signaling, and shall, during the period from one-half hour after sunset to one-half hour before sunrise, display at least two lighted lamps on the front and one on the rear of such vehicle, which shall also display a red light visible from the rear.

"The rays of such rear lamps shall shine upon the number plate carried on the rear of such vehicle in such manner as to render the numerals thereon visible for at least fifty feet in the direction from which the motor vehicle is proceeding. The light of the front lamps shall be visible at least two hundred feet in the direction in which the motor vehicle is proceeding, and shall give sufficient light to reveal any person, vehicle, or substantial object on the road straight ahead of such motor vehicle for a distance of at least two hundred and fifty feet.

"The front lights shall be so arranged that no portion of the beam of the reflected light projected to the left of the axis of the vehicle when measured seventy-five feet or more ahead of the lamps shall rise above forty-two inches on the level surface on which the vehicle stands. They shall also give sufficient side illumination to reveal any person, vehicle or substantial object ten feet to both sides of said vehicle, at a point ten feet ahead of the lamps. The term 'beam of light' as used in the above provision shall be construed as meaning the approximately parallel, focalized rays gathered and projected by a reflector lens or other device.

"If in addition to headlights, any motor vehicle is equipped with any auxiliary light, projecting device or devices, other than the rear lamp, such auxiliary lights shall be subject to all the restrictions of this section regarding direction of the beam. (Every person operating or driving a motor vehicle on the public highways of the state shall also, when approaching a crossroad outside the limits of a city or incorporated village, slow down the speed of the same and shall sound his bell, horn or other device for signaling in such manner as to give notice and warning of his approach)."

FOUR BRITISH BOATS SUNK.

By Associated Press.

Boston, June 29.—The torpedoing and sinking of four large British cargo-carrying steamers was announced in advices to local insurance officers today. The steamers were the Ultonia of the Cunard line, 6593 tons; the Haverford of the American line, 7493 tons; the Buffalo, Wilson Lumber liner, 2583 tons, and the Manistee, another Cunard liner. No details of the losses were given and no mention was made of the fate of the crews.

GERMAN SHIP HITS MINE.

The Hague, June 29.—It is reported that the German steamer Westfalen, bound from Rotterdam for Copenhagen, struck a mine this morning near Terschelling outside Dutch territorial waters and sank. The account states that thirteen members of the crew were rescued by Dutch torpedo boats.

GETTING READY FOR BIG RUSH

The Spencer-Carroll company are making plans to have all the needed supplies that will be in demand under the new automobile laws. They are receiving big shipments of lens and such accessories every day and as fast as is necessary they will be distributed to the auto dealers who sell these articles.

This firm has greatly increased its sales in the past few months and are making rapid strides to bring this month's records far in advance of all previous records for June.

The men out on the road and the city salesmen all report good business. That the retail dealers are laying in a supply of material to meet the increased demand that is sure to come is evident from the long list of sales that the road men turn in on their return to the home office. Several firms in nearby cities have almost doubled their accounts in the last month. This indicates that business among the accessory dealers is growing every day.

HERRICK HARDWARE CO. BUSY BOOSTING FOR BUICK AND CHANDLERS

Buicks and Chandlers are being boosted every day by the Herrick Hardware company and they state that the past week has been an unusually busy time for them.

They are also taking in and selling quite a few second-hand cars. As this firm has a wide reputation as to the reliability of second-hand cars turned out by them, they are always being called on by people who are anxious to purchase a used machine.

The shipments of Buicks that have been rather slow coming in for the past few weeks are being rushed by the factory and they will try to meet the increased demand in record-breaking time.

HENRY FORD NOT ONLY PATRIOTIC BUT OPTIMISTIC

The following brief interview with Henry Ford, president of the Ford Motor company, Detroit, speaks of the patriotic and optimistic vision of one of the world's most remarkable men:

"Our country—your country and my country—is at war. All else must be forgotten. To end this terrible struggle we must win. We've got to win; there is no other answer. I am an American. I want to do everything I can for my country, to shorten the conflict and to win with the extreme minimum loss to the United States.

"I have offered our Highland Park plant to the government for any use to which it may desire to put it. We are now making 2,500 ambulances there and if President Wilson, or Congress can suggest anything else for us to do we will be only too willing to comply."

"What effect do you think the war will have on your business?" was asked of Mr. Ford.

He was silent for a few minutes and then replied: "There is no reason for the country to be alarmed. While this war overshadows everything it does not mean that the wheels of industry will stop, or slow up. On the contrary they will speed up. The factories will win for us just as surely as will the men on the firing line. When a nation is striving toward a single end there is bound to be plenty to do. It is not difficult to understand that."

HOMAGE TO JEFFRIES

"The homage that has been paid the Jeffries car all over the United States and the tests that it is being put to in connection with war work is bringing it into the limelight more and more every day," says W. E. Brown of the Brown Auto company, local dealers for ths well known car.

"Its popularity in Waco and Central Texas is growing in leaps and bounds. At the present time there is hardly a town in this section of the country that does not have one or more Jeffries in its list of automobiles."

NEW AUTO LAWS WILL BE DRASTIC

New automobile laws and revised systems of numbering cars is the principal topic of conversation among the automobile men of Waco. The success in securing the block system for this city has been favorably commented on by every dealer and the great majority of car owners. This will no doubt revolutionize the numbering plan of the entire state.

That the car owner will have to read up on the new rules is made evident by the many changes that are cropping up every day. The traffic rules of Waco in all probabilities will have to be revised and that in itself will necessitate the driver of a car giving the matter his undivided attention.

According to reports on the new laws, every hired driver of a car will have to have a special drivers' license, no matter if it be a delivery car, pleasure car or livery car. They will have to go to the proper authorities to get a permit after paying a certain tax.

The dimmer law will be rigidly enforced and every car will have to be equipped with a dimmer meeting the requirements of the law. There has been considerable discussion among auto owners as to the feasibility of painting one-half of the lens on their lamps and in that manner forming a dimmer. According to experts this will not meet the requirements; the car must be equipped with a certain class of dimmer especially designed to soften the glare of the bright electric headlight that has caused so many accidents in the past.

ELECTRIC'S FAST RUN.

Under the auspices of the New York Electric Vehicle association a standard electric stock car was given a test run from Atlantic City to New York last week, making a new record for any inter-city run in cars of this class. The report of the association says:

"The run was made in 5 hours and 48 minutes, actual running time. The mileage covered by the car from Atlantic City to New York was 123½, making the average running time 20½ miles per hour. The entire distance was covered with the car running at fifth and sixth speeds.

"The current used to drive the car from Atlantic City to New York cost less than half the price of enough gasoline to drive a gas car over the same route; 283 ampere hours were used in the run, an average of 2.29 per mile, the cost of which at a five-cent kilowatt hour rate, which is the maximum charging rate in New York City, would be $1.55.

NEW TIRE SEAL IS GIVEN TEST

AUTO CLUB MAKES PUBLIC RESULT OF TRIAL OF NEW ANTI-PUNCTURE FLUID.

The Automobile Club of America's publication, Motor Travel, in the last issue makes public the report on a test conducted by the technical committee of the club on the tire seal manufactured by the Crew Levick company of Philadelphia.

In this elaborate test, which occupied three days, nail punctures were made in the rear tires of a Buick 6-cylinder car, also penknife cuts in one of the front wheels. There was a slight drop in air pressure at the time of driving in the nails in the tires but the loss was not great enough to require reinflation before finishing the run. During the actual driving time of each of the runs there was no loss in air pressure in any of the tires under test. An examination of the tubes revealed that the sealing compound had closed the holes in every instance.

In the case of one of the tires the nails were withdrawn immediately after being driven in, while in the other tire the nails were left in, for a distance of 90 miles after which they were withdrawn and the car then traveled 136 miles farther. In the case of the first tire the distance traveled with the punctured holes was 229 miles. The front tire, which was cut with a penknife, traveled 34 miles. A tube which had a vulcanized patch was used on a front wheel for 180 miles.

The car was driven a total distance of 292.7 miles during the three days' road test. The inner tubes used in the test were new ones, the tir seal compound, which is of a purple brown color, being placed inside the tube. No claim is made by the manfacturers that the compound will repair blowouts or seal long cuts, although it was shown in the test that small-sized cuts are sealed.

WOMEN PASS AS CHAUFFEURS.

Many women are taking the state examination these days and becoming licensed chauffeurs in order that they may be qualified to serve as ambulance drivers if they are needed. A class of sixteen women took examination at Flushing a few days ago, while nine successfully passed the tests given by an examiner from Secretary Hugo's office at New Rochelle a few days ago.

The women generally show an exceptional knowledge of the mechanical properties of their car, while they handle their automobile more skillfully than many men. While the region immediately adjacent to the city is turning out women chauffeurs in greater numbers now than up-state, the same spirit is manifest elsewhere, with the result that at nearly every state examination from one to five women are on hand.

BUSY TIMES ALONG THE LINCOLN HIGHWAY

Artistic markers at each state line crossed by the Lincoln Highway between New York and San Francisco are to be erected. Arrangements have been completed by the Lincoln Highway association. The markers will be each 34x22 inches in size, mounted on posts standing seven and one-half feet above the ground. The foundation will be of concrete. These markers are now being manufactured and are to be shipped to the various state highway councils for erection.

Comprehensive plans for the Lincoln Highway beautification have been announced by the Federated Women's clubs. Mrs. M. John Dickinson, chairman of the conservation department of the General Federation of Women's clubs, has announced a plan for this work, and is being assisted by the Lincoln Highway committee of the American Institute of Architects. Jens Jensen of that committee has drafted the plans to be worked out. The improvements will consist in the planting of trees and shrubs, the erection of appropriate milestones and markers at historic and other interesting points.

Announcement is made by the Lincoln Highway association that the late spring has delayed cross-country motorists. Throughout the Mississippi valley the country appears to be practically thirty days late, and this is true of the Rocky Mountain region. The highway association has advised that transcontinental drives be delayed two or three weeks. Reports have been received from Wyoming, Utah, Nevada and California which show that the snow in the Sierras is only just now melting and that the roads over the passes are in bad condition.

All along the route of the highway, on May 30, patriotism reached great heights and there were flag raisings, and other ceremonies at many points.

The highway officials have learned of marked activities in the improvement of the Lincoln Highway throughout Wyoming. Several improvements to be made will shorten the route 250 miles in that state.

Representative Broadbeck of Pennsylvania is the sponsor for a bill which has for its object the designation by the government of the Lincoln Highway as a post road.

RECRUITING STATION TRAVELS.

One of the familiar sights on Utah's highways today is a banner-bedecked Jefferey six-passenger car which plies through the rural districts and small towns in search of fighting men for Uncle Sam. The recruiting car is in charge of Sergeant Ben Cherakin and party whose efforts have been very efefctive in swelling the total of Utah's enlistments. The arrival of the Jeffery recruiting car is the signal for enthusiastic welcome and patriotic demonstration.

The well known posters, "Uncle Sam Wants You," and "Columbia Calls," are being distributed broadcast throughout the country by the soldiers.

PRICE INCREASE MADE BY OLDS

POPULAR PRICED 8-CYLINDER MODEL TO BE BOOSTED $100 ON JULY 1.

Although no automobile company has tried with more earnestness and sincerity than the Oldsmobile to fight an increase on its popular-price car, Model 45, abnormal industrial conditions have at last impelled this step. Announcement of the manufacturers' decision was made in the local field by C. H. Larson, president of the Olds's eastern distributing agency. The result is that the eight-cylinder Oldsmobile will be sold at $1,467 instead of $1,367, and the six-cylinder raised from $1,095 to $1,185, becoming effective on July 1.

"I am certain that Oldsmobile, one of the real pioneers in motordom, has won public confidence throughout the nineteen years it has been on the market because sensational and extravagant claims have never been associated with it," said Larson. "The aim has always been to produce that kind of car which a man could buy with explicit faith, one which he would literally not be 'afraid' to purchase.

"Since last summer, when the higher cost of labor and of materials began to be pressing, the board of directors at the Olds works in Lansing deferred making the increase. The raise was advocated by several in the summer of 1916, but was voted down in the vain hope of long duration.

"The result of another investigation just concluded at the factory into the present cost of producing each Oldsmobile is responsible for the advance. It was imperative that the increase go into effect as soon as possible. In order to be fair with those who had been planning an Olds for $1,367, reservations will be received at the old price up to July 1. Deliveries will be immediate."

FEW ANNOUNCEMENTS OF NEW MODELS THIS YEAR

"Standardization is the keynote of the automobile industry today," declared Louis Mansbach, treasurer of the Times Square Auto Supply company of New York, known as the largest buyer of accessories in the world.

"By June 1 in former years a large percentage of the automobile factories had made their announcements as to their models for the following year. In a great many cases these announcements showed great changes in the cars. This method of doing business was bad, because if a man takes delivery around the month of May and finds his car a year old the first of June he is naturally disappointed and realizes immediately that his car has depreciated in value and is not the latest design.

"This season practically no factories have made announcements, and it looks as if announcements in the future will be later and eventually will not be shown until the New York shop. This is as it should be, following out the customs in other lines of business.

"The automobile of the future will not be known by the year, but by the model, on account of the slight changes being made in the general standardizing of the bodies, equipment, tires, &c.

"The same applies to automobile accessories, especially tires, where practically 95 per cent of the tire and tube business will be in five or six sizes, the odd and extremely large sizes being discontinued. The public has decided upon smaller size tires in the straight line non-skid, and the wise manufacturer is striving to give the public what it wants. All these changes are for the improvement of the business."

Rugged Tread — Double Cable Base — Traffik Tread

Tread design perhaps has little influence on your choice of tires. Yet efficient skid prevention is a big advantage.

Federal Rugged (white) and Traffik (black) non-skid treads were not designed for good looks, but for good traction and safety. And they are genuinely efficient.

They embody the best tire construction that a great plant and years of experience can produce. Equip your car with these "Extra Service" Tires. They cost much less per season.

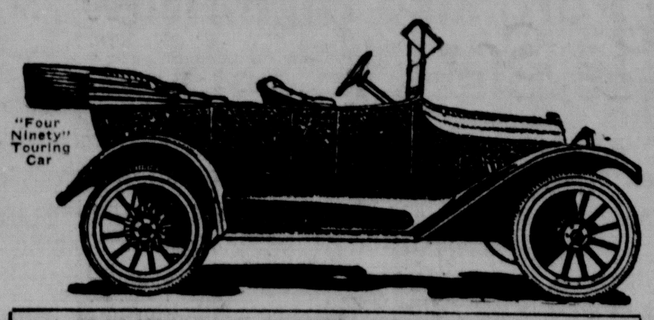
CHEVROLET STANDS FOR CONVENIENCE, Comfort and Conservation of Time!

People used to buy Automobiles by "guess-work"—before the Chevrolet came along. The sale in the "good old days" was made by the salesman who could talk most fluently of non-essentials of automobile construction—in most cases details of which the buyer was blissfully and totally ignorant.

Chevrolet has set a new standard for motor car buying. Long before the present agitation for economy and thrift had been thought of—designers of Chevrolets were working to make a car as nearly 100 per cent efficiency for the average man as possible—taking into consideration PRICE, SIZE, POWER, ECONOMY and PERFORMANCE.



At the Present Chevrolet Prices

You are buying a value at least $150.00 in excess of its cost to you—considering higher material and factory costs.

PAIGE PRICES WILL BE ADVANCED ON JULY FIFTEENTH

In order to maintain the well-known standards of Paige Quality, this step could no longer be avoided. Costs of raw materials, accessories and labor have advanced steadily—some commodities as much as 300 per cent. Since the Paige uses only the BEST of materials there is but one thing to do—increase the price. Yet, even at the new price, the Paige will still be an underpriced car, comparing it with other cars of its price class. The Paige is a preferred investment, its actual cost being only a minor consideration.

AUTO DEALERS FORGET PULLMAN

DRUET AND WEINSTEIN USE A MARION-HANDLEY CAR TO MAKE BUSINESS TRIP.

It has been charged against the motor car dealer that he fails to practice what he preaches in a transportation way. He has been accused of using the railway train for his own business trips, while advising his customers to travel by auto.

Henry Drouet, president of the L. & M. Motors company, distributors of the Marion-Handley and Pullman cars, and his sales manager, Matthew Weinstein, seem to be "not guilty" of the grave charge. Last week they decided to size up conditions at Philadelphia, Wilmington, Baltimore and Washington, and having packed up the necessary tooth brush and pajamas, stepped into one of the new Marion Handleys as they would have into a parlor car of a Pennsylvania train.

The entire trip of 276 miles was made in nine hours, with a car carrying five big men and their luggage. The gasoline consumption averaged thirteen and one-half miles to the gallon, and not a moment's time was lost for repairs, mechanical adjustments or even tire trouble.

Mr. Drouet reports that conditions in the territory covered are about those existing in New York, and the general feeling among the trade is that just as soon as the public realizes the wave of prosperity which is bound to follow the spending of that $7,000,000,000 in this country for our own and the ally governments, there will be such a demand for good motor cars that the delivery question will again loom up as a serious one.

"Our government departments are the busiest places one could imagine," said Mr. Drouet. "Anyone who supposes that our officials in every department are not on the job is sadly mistaken. I found general regret on the part of the officials that the sane recommendations of the president for the elimination of wasteful extravagance should have been misconstrued in some quarters as a call for silly retrenchment."

DODGE IS VERY POPULAR

The ever popular Dodge car is meeting with great sucess these days, says the Central Motor company. "We have had a very successful month and our sales are going to total up stronger than ever before for the month of June.

This car has proven a great success in every section of the United States and many of the sturdy machines have been sold in foreign countries. In Waco and Central Texas the car is becoming one of the most popular machines that is met on the road.

MOTOR THIEVES ACTIVE; WAYS TO PROTECT AUTO

Thieves are riding better every day, and unless your automobile is properly guarded at all times there is no telling when they will get yours. A car properly locked up or left with a responsible garage keeper is reasonably safe. The real danger comes from leaving the car unattended in the street. Many a man has left his machine with hardly a thought as to its safety and never has seen it again. It is useless to lock the stable door after the horse is stolen, yet some owners will never protect their cars properly until they have lost one.

The motoring public, however, is gradually awakening to this danger, and so a few suggestions will be of interest. First the owner must be impressed with the necessity for taking some such precaution, as he will not make the effort unless he realizes the need of it.

Many ignition systems have locks on them, and the owner carefully locks the switch and removes the key, ignorant of the fact that a good blow from a hammer will break the lock. some such devices are for sale. Those provided with a good arrangement of tumblers are not open to this objection. But it is easy enough to raise the hood of the engine and remove the wires leading to the lock. This is not so difficult a trick as one might imagine. A man leaves his automobile at the curb near a restaurant while he and his friends go inside. It is evident they intend to stay inside from fifteen minutes to an hour or more. A thief walks out of the same restaurant, goes up to the car in a businesslike manner, raises the hood, fixes a couple of wires with a pair of pliers, starts the motor, and drives off. Even a policeman watching him would suspect nothing. Yet the thief has made a clean getaway with an expensive car and left no clue.

The best safeguard is to remove some important part of the ignition system or to disconnect the wires in some place that is not easily accessible. For instance, removing the distributer brush is one of the best. If the car is equipped with a magneto the collector-ring brush and the rod connecting it to the distributer should be removed. Any one of these will make a gap in the circuit which is not easily abridged, as the thieves have not yet acquired the habit of carrying these extra parts with them. Another way is to use a special switch controlling the starter current. Have it concealed under the cowl dash, where no one would expect such a thing to be placed. Use one capable of carrying 100 amperes and run your starter wires to it. With the safety switch open and the starting handle locked in the tool box the thief will not experiment very long.

Another safeguard that employs none of the above methods is to lock the gasoline valve in the closed position. This requires a special lock, but is a sure preventive. So protect the car when it is out of your sight. Do not think that it may never be stolen because it never has been. It may be your turn next.

SHIPPING MANY TRUCKS TO WAR

AVERAGE OF 80 CARS A WEEK SENT TO EUROPE SINCE JANUARY BY PEERLESS.

"The Peerless Motor Car company is making record shipments of Peerless trucks and has shipped an average of eighty trucks a week since the first of January," says President W. A. Woods of the Van Cortlandt Vehicle corporation, metropolitan distributors for the Peerless "8" cylinder cars.

"The motor truck has proved itself as necessary to modern warfare as .75-millimeters guns or submarines. Were it not for its aid, thousands of men on the firing line would be without ammunition or food, owing to the crowding of the single track railways of Europe with trains carrying wounded to the rear, or taking reinforcements to the front.

"American truck manufacturers were quick to see the market among the fighting armies on the continent, and among the first to secure a large order at the outbreak of the war in 1914, was the Peerless company.

"We have now more than 7,000 four and five-ton Peerless trucks in actual service in the armies of Europe, and we are shipping seventy a week in addition.

"We have been shipping trucks since the fall of 1914 and are continually getting reports of the high-grade service they are doing, despite the arduous tasks they must face.

"They are used mostly in carrying ammunition, food supplies, etc., from the base depots to the front, and many of them face the fire of the enemy trenches continually."

QUICK GETAWAY IS AN IMPORTANT FEATURE

In driving through metropolitan traffic the comfort of the motorist is largely dependent upon quick yet smooth acceleration of the motor. This is a point that the novice or inexperienced driver may not consider in buying a car, but to the man who has driven a great deal in New York acceleration is a big factor to be considered.

"Take for example a drive down Fifth avenue," says C. H. King, vice president and general manager of the Chalmers Sales Company Inc. "Because of the traffic congestion quick acceleration saves much annoyance to the driver and passengers and the other motorists near them. The traffic officer may seem impatient for his job is to keep the chain of vehicles moving expeditiously. Naturally it annoys him to have a driver stick his gears or stall his motor and delay a long line of cars. Oftentimes the comments of those who are thus delayed are not altogether pleasant.

"The recent acceleration tests of a Chalmers made under the official supervision of the American Automobile association was interesting. Joe Dawson driving this car showed that with correct handling the Chalmers was quite phenomenal in its getaway ability. From a dead stop to 25 feet it attained a velocity of 12.2 miles an hour in 1.2 seconds; while at 100 feet it was moving 16.5 miles an hour in 4.4 seconds, and in 300 feet or 10.2 seconds from the stardt the speed obtained was better than 33 miles an hour. Furthermore all of these accelerations were obtained smoothly and without jerk or strain upon the mechanism."

STANDARDIZING GRADE CROSSINGS.

According to an order of the public service commission of Pennsylvania, gates at all grade crossings in that state will be painted black and white. This is part of the plan for standardization of grade crossing protection which the commission placed in the hands of John P. Dohoney, investigator of accidents. Watchmen will discard the old-time red flag and display a sixteen-inch red disk, with the word "stop" in black letters as a warning at crossings. According to the records of the commission, there are 734 crossings in the state with gates and 633 have watchmen.

FILM STARS PARTICULAR OVER STYLES OF AUTOS

There is probably no class of buyers so particular about the style and mechanism of their motor cars as moving picture actors and actresses. And in all the centers where the moving picture stars congregate, one sees a large variety of body styles and cars of various colors.

This desire for individuality of motor cars caused movie stars to make a varied selection of makes as well as body styles. One of the leading New York publications making a specialty of the amusement world made a canvass of the recent motor car buyers from the moving picture fields which are located at present in or near New York city.

Of the sales made this spring, the desire for variety and individuality was shown in the fact that forty-four different makes of cars have been chosen for the summer automobile work of the movie stars. It was remarkable, therefore, that the Hupmobile led the list of the forty-four makes and leading in popularity such cars as the Packard, which was second; Hudson third; Peerless, fourth, and Pierce-Arrow, fifth.

LIBERTY CLIMBS MOUNT PEDRO.

Traveling on high gear from the base to the summit, a Liberty car carrying three passengers climbed to the top of Mount Pedro, near San Francisco, recently. To give an idea of the steepness of this drive, it is necessary to make five complete laps in order to reach the top. This mountain rises from sea level to 3,000 feet above. Aside from the test of hill climbing ability to which the Liberty was subjected, the trip to the top forced a demonstration of flexibility, and near the summit the run developed into a test of carburetion at high altitudes.

"OLDS" STILL FAVORITE SAY WARD-PHILLIPS

"They keep buying automobiles and when they think of automobiles they always say—Oldsmobile." That is the way Ward-Phillips Auto company express their review of the past week's activities. "Every time we sell an Olds the owner sells two for us," says Mr. Ward. "The automobile industry is like all other big industries, good will goes a long ways. The Oldsmobile is a good-will car. Once driven by an experienced auto owner he will have no other. Rarely ever a day passes that we do not have some former buyer come into the office and say something in praise of his car. All cars bring in some complaints. The Oldsmobile has reduced theirs to the minimum and it is a rare thing when repairs have to be made."

RECIPROCITY ON NEW AUTO LICENSES RULING

Motor visitors to New York city from other states who have operators' licenses from their own states will be given the privilege of staying in the city for fifteen days, according to the ruling of the attorney general's office on the new Cromwell-Kelly law. This is the same period that is granted on license plates borne by cars visiting from other states, and is extended on a reciprocity basis.

The new law requires the licensing of all motor vehicle operators in New York city, whether public or private, and the granting of the fifteen-day period is of a special interest to New Jersey motorists who come to New York more frequently than any others. Regarding the new law, which goes into effect August I, a representative of Secretary of State Hugo's office said:

"During the last few days thousands of letters of inquiry as to various provisions of the Cromwell-Kelly bill have been received by Secretary of State Hugo. In many instances, these letters are accomplished by remittances which will now be returned along with a blank application which the owner will be asked to fill in, certify to, and return to the office with the amount of the fee attached. It is expected that by such means practically the entire licensing of Greater New York's owners can be speedily handled without the necessity of the applicant coming to the office.

"Judging from some of the letters that have already reached Mr. Hugo, many have gained the wrong impression as to just what the new law requires in the way of licensing. They think that; inasmuch as they have already taken out an owner's registration, the operator's license will not be necessary. Such misinformed persons are being correctly advised and furnished with blank applications.

"These applications contain a total of twenty questions, including the age, weight, and height of the applicant, as well as the color of the hair and eyes. The applicant is asked if he is addicted to the use of morphine or drugs. If he uses intoxicating liquors he is required to answer and he is also asked if he has ever been convicted of any crime relating to the use of motor vehicles in this or any othr state."

HIGH TENSION TRADE IS FIRM'S REPORT

High tension business is the report of the Herrick-McLarty Auto company for the past week. Every man on the force, both salesmen and office men, are having their hands full handling the big amount of business transacted by this firm every week. The sales have been as brisk as could be wished for the past few days and there is every indication that the big drive will continue.

Among the visitors at the local salesrooms during the past week was E. H. Reynolds, of the Paige company of Dallas. "We are having wonderful success with the Paige car in this section of Texas," said Mr. Reynolds. "This type of car appeals to the thinking auto buyer and we have a big sheaf of orders on our hands at all seasons. The prosperity that has been enjoyed in Central Texas for the past season will continue and I am confident that even more cars will be sold in the next few weeks than have been disposed of in the past."

AUTO DEALERS CAN HELP GOVERNMENT

That National dealers can be of national service by avoiding false economy is the keynote of an important bulletin just sent out by George M. Dickson, president of the National Motor Car & Vehicle corporation.

"Let's put our foot on false economy. 'Going shabby' by those of us who habitually dress well and can afford it, is not going to help make more guns and ammunition," advises Dickson.

"President Wilson's address advocated strict economy, and rightly so, in the way of foods. Foods are dependent on nature and the elements and therefore the yield is problematic. But not so of manufactured articles which can be made in limitless quantites.

"Many individuals may unwittingly make the mistake of thinking that because of the caution against wasting foodstuffs, that it would be patriotic to economize also in the buying of all other commodities. Nothing could be more foolhardy and nothing would bring about depressing conditions quicker.

"Let us learn to judge the difference between false and true economy. To do without manufactured articles, the gasis of all business and prosperity, is certainly false economy. Anyone attempting such a course will certainly defeat the very ends for which we are all striving.

"So far as the National Motor Car & Vehicle corporation is concerned, it is planning to go ahead at full force and give employmen to as many men as possible. July 1 starts a new business year with the National factory. At a recent meeting of the National afficers and directors definite plans were made for increasing production to the maximum for the incoming year."

KISSELL KAR KNOWS BUSINESS IS GOOD

"Evidence keeps piling up that 'business is as usual' in the small cities and towns as well as in the large cities and metropolitan centers," says J. I. Rouse, of the Kissel Kar. "This spring and summer is proving a record breaker for the increased number of new Kissel Kar dealers in small towns and agricultural districts who are increasing their sales volume every day.

"This is conclusive proof that the farmer, rancher, fruit grower and cattleman recognize the automobile as a necessity in their business activities in overseeing the work in field, garden and orchard, and keeping in close touch with town. In other words, tying up the source of demand with the source of supply.

"The patriotic activities of their wives, sisters and mothers is increased by the use of the automobile in attending meetings of the town guild or relief societies enabling them to 'do their bit' in town and still return home without interfering with their household duties."

MANY MOTOR TROUBLES ARE DUE TO CARBON

INEFFICIENCY CAUSED BY FOUL ENGINE CAN GENERALLY BE TRACED TO CARBON.

"Carbon is one of the worst ailments of the engine and the most insidious," says William H. Stewart, Jr., president of the Stewart Automobile school.

Its presence is not suspected and the evils which follow are attributed to many other than the real cause.

The motor seems to be sluggish, does not respond readily to the throttle, particularly on a hill, and the driver blames the gasoline, the carburetor, the cooling system—even the manufacturer. He gets out the starting handle and cranks the motor to try the compression. He finds it weak and blames the manufacturer for making an engine which cannot hold compression a reasonable length of time.

Before long the engine begins to miss explosions and he blames the coil or the spark plugs. He opens the switch after a long run and the engine refuses to stop. Then he remembers that he heard a distinct knock, which he thought might be a loose bearing, but now he knows there is something wrong inside, or the engine wouldn't overheat so badly after the careful handling he had given it. He condemns the car and all its kind, and asks his friends what the trouble is that so many ills can occur to one engine at one time.

Carbon Is the Answer.

"Carbon" is the answer. It gets under the exhaust valves and gums up the piston rings so that the motor loses compression. It short-circuits the spark plugs, and the engine misses explosions. It accumulates in masses in the head of the cylinder, gets red hot and fires the mixture before the proper time. This causes knocking, which is especially pronounced on a hill. When the switch is opened the motor keeps on running as it was not using the electric spark at all.

There are many causes of carbon and one must be on his guard against all of them. The usual trouble is too much oil, but the wrong grade of oil will give carbon as will a poor grade. Too rich a mixture from the carburetor is another cause. If the piston rings are badly worn, oil will be drawn up into the combustion chamber on the suction stroke—more carbon.

"The remedy is to avoid the causes given above. Use oil made by the manufacturer of established reputation and use the oil he recommends for your car. See that oil level is correct and that mixture from carburetor is right. If red or yellow flame is shown at compression cocks, the mixture is too rich. In spite of the best care, however, carbon will persist in forming. To help keep this down, inject a small quantity of kerosene in each cylinder each week. Have motor hot when it is poured in so that the kerosene will vaporize. Close compressions cocks and crank engine a few times, either by hand or self starter. This compresses the vapor and forces it into the carbon. The effect of the kerosene vapor acting all night is to soften the carbon so that some of it will be ejected when the motor is again started.

Burn Out With Oxygen.

"If such percautions have not been taken and cylinders are found to be carbonized, the deposits may be too thick to be effected by kerosene alone. The old method was to use scrapers which were inserted through the valve openings. The carbon was scraped off, but fell in masses on the head of the piston. Unless blown out, it was carried to the muffler. If not thoroughly removed, ridges of carbon were left, which became red hot and caused preignition just the same. The best method, aside from removing cyclinder head and postive scraping, is to have the cylinders burned out with oxygen. This can only be done when special apparatus is available. The engine is started and the gasoline supply is shut off. The engine stops, having used up all the explosive mixture in the combustion space. This is to avoid an explosion when the oxygen is introduced into the cylinder. The plugs are then removed, a burning match dropped into the cylinder and the stream of oxygen turned on. This spreads to all parts of the combustion space, burning the carbon. As long as sparks are coming out the workman knows there is still some unconsumed carbon. This process is quick and quite efficient, dismantling of motor being unnecessary.

"So bear in mind the many troubles traceable to carbon the next time you find the motor is not pulling as it should."

EXPORT POLICY DETERMINED ON WITH MUCH CARE

PRESIDENT WILL MAKE CAREFUL STUDY OF SUBJECT. COMPLICATIONS MANY.

By Associated Press.

Washington, June 29.—America's export policy will be determined by President Wilson, only after a careful study of the subject in all its international aspects. After the problem had been gone over at today's cabinet meeting it was disclosed that the first presidential proclamation putting certain commodities under government control probably will not be issued for some days.

Many complications are presented. The administration, firm in its intention to check the movement of supplies from the European neutral countries to Germany, is anxious at the same time that no injustice be done to neutrals. It is realized that any program for rationing opens itself to many abuses.

Switzerland, for instance, receives its entire coal supply from Germany in exchange for home products, food products. If the United States declines to grant licenses for grain exports to Switzerland unless the Swiss cease exporting food products to Germany, Switzerland will have to go through the winter with an inadequate coal supply.

The question of tonnage presents a complicated problem. Coal probably will be put under license in the first proclamation.

As bunker coal will be licensed, this arrangement gives the United States and Great Britain together a firm control on both allied and neutral shipping. Disposal of neutral tonnage and a score of other complexities must be worked out before a definite policy is adopted. Plans for diverting Japan's tonnage to trans-Atlantic service are to be considered before a final decision is made as to a program.

Diplomatic representatives here of European neutrals are making every effort to convince this government that their countries have not taken advantage of heavy imports from the United States to trade with Germany. The Netherlands goernment particularly is disturbed over what its representatives declare is an effort to force it from its position of neutrality. Only two hours distant from one of the great belligerents, this country, its representatives have told American officials, is in the most difficult position of all the neutrals.

SEATTLE-VANCOUVER RECORD IS BROKEN

The motor car record between Seattle, Wash., to Vancouver, B. C., long a bone of contention among automobile men in that section of the country, was substantially lowered by a Paige roadster in a recent attempt in which the Paige car came through in impressive style.

The car was a 1915 model that had already accumulated a mileage of 32,000 in transcontinental traveling, was driven by George M. Price of Seattle and covered the distance of 167 miles in 3 hours and 42 minutes running time and 4 hours and 36 minutes elapsed time.

The first record over this course to gain attention was scored in 1914, the trip being made at that time in 6 hours and 15 minutes. Not long ago a driver covered the route in 5 hours and 57 minutes. These record makers, however, ran from city limits to city limits, while Mr. Price in establishing the new mark drove from a point within Seattle which made his route nine miles longer.

Mr. Price made his remarkable record in spite of the fact that thirty minutes were lost at the two customs houses which had to be cleared at the Canadian border. He made his start at 3:53 a. m. and from Seattle to Blaine, the latter the border city, averaged thirty-seven miles per hour.

NATION FAILS MISERABLY IN EFFORT FOR RECRUITS

Washington, June 29.—Hope that President Wilson's call for filling up of the regular army and its reserves by June 30 could be realized was abandoned today when figures for recruiting yesterday showed that only 1313 men had been accepted for service throughout the country.

Even news that American regulars had arrived on French soil failed to stimulate the volunteer spirit and the present indications are that the reserves will have to be supplied through the system of selective conscription.

Studebaker

ANNOUNCEMENT

THE increased cost of materials and labor may force us to make an advance in prices at any time without notice. But you may buy your new Studebaker car today and be assured that no sudden change in models will discount or depreciate the value of your purchase. There will be no change in Studebaker models this year.

Furthermore, your investment in a Studebaker car is protected and safe, and it is much more likely to appreciate in value than depreciate.

The sturdy quality, the splendid value, the proven dependability and durability of the present models will be continued.

Studebaker daily sales continue to show that the public is quick to recognize, and always to give its support to an honest, well made product, the value and service of which have been proven in actual performance.

Their power, their easy riding features, their freedom from trouble have made Studebaker cars leaders in every part of the country where automobiles are subjected to the hardest use.

The most recent proof of their durability is the performance of two Studebaker cars taken directly from a dealer's stock on the trip of the San Francisco Ad Club to the recent St. Louis convention.

Both these Studebaker cars came over the snow filled passes of the Rocky mountains, through seas of hub deep gumbo mud on the Western Plains and finished in perfect running condition.

Further evidence of Studebaker dependability is shown by the popularity of Studebaker cars in California, where people test and prove their cars by continuous service every day in the year and where there are more Studebakers registered than any car selling at over $500.

In Detroit where 80% of all cars are made, where thousands of people are directly connected with the industry, where they know the materials and workmanship that go into cars and the organizations behind them there are more Studebakers registered than any other car selling at over $500.

The foregoing is proof that people who know cars from service rendered and people best equipped to judge automobile values prefer Studebakers.

There could be no better guide than this for you in purchasing your car.

More than 300,000 Studebaker cars in every part of the world have made good in the hands of their owners—as yours will make good for you.

MOTOR CARS NEEDED TO CARRY TROOPERS

When it comes to matters military, little Visalia, Cal., is not only patriotic but strictly modern. A short time ago the recruiting officers in that town were informed that a machine gun company was needed in a hurry by the Second California infantry.

A rapid-fire recruiting campaign produced the men in twenty-four hours and then a dozen business men of Visalia, who own Dodge Brothers motor cars, offered to set the new recruits at the Presidio at San Francisco in record time.

This was the first attempt at moving troops long distances by motor in the San Joaquin valley and it was watched with much interest by military men.

The 230-mile run was made in eight and one-half hours, with an average speed of 27 miles an hour. The first half of the trip was completed with a 35-mile average, but rain and slippery roads cut the average to 27 before the ferry at Oakland was reached.

While the number of men moved in this particular instance was small, the run demonstrated that the number of troops it would be possible to rush to a given point would depend wholly on the number of motor cars available.

The only delay reported on the entire trip was occasioned by five punctures. The performance of the Dodge Brothers cars aroused high praise from the officers who accompanied the recruits on the trip.

EXPERIENCE OF PRISONERS TOLD

VOLUNTARY SALUTE IS NOW RULE IN RUSSIA

IF YOUR STARTER FAILS READ THIS ADVICE

By Associated Press.

Paris, June 30.—Auguste Potie, an important brick manufacturer, senator from the department of the Nord and mayor Haubordin, has just made his first appearance in the senate since the spring of 1814 and announced to his colleagues that he had in the meantime learned the trade of tailor in a German prison.

Senator Potie was sent to prison in July, 1915, for having reminded the commanding officer of the occupying forces, who happened to be a Greek officer in the service of Germany, that article 52 of The Hague convention was contrary to the forced employment of the inhabitants in invaded districts on work of a military nature for the benefit of the invaders.

Haubourdin is only three miles from the battle front and the inhabitants were called upon for all sorts of service, burdened with excessive requisitions and loaded with fines and vexations of various sorts.

Ten young girls in the Saint Augustin orphan asylum at Haucourdin had been ordered by the Germans to make burlap sacks. When they learned that the sacks were to be filled with sand and used as ramparts against the French they refused to work. M. Cardonnier, director of the flax mill from which was requisitioned the material to make the sacks, was held responsible for the strike, and on his refusal to undertake the manufacture of the sacks was fined 1000 francs and held as hostage until the work should be resumed.

Captain Argyropoulos, the Greek officer in command, then summoned Monsieur Potie to furnish the sacks. He refused. The German commander fined him 1000 francs while most severe measures were taken against the entire population. Subsequently M. Potie and M. Cardonnier were both fined 500 francs by Gen. Krug von Nida, commanding the 24th division at Lambersart. A few days later, after he had posted a letter invoking The Hague treaty, Senator Potie was arrested. Both he and M. Cardonnier were condemned without having appeared before any tribunal, to pay fines of 5000 francs and to serve one year in prison, the terms of prison to be increased eleven months in default of payment of the fines. Confined at Loos, then at Aix-la-Chapelle and Cologne, they were finally taken to the prison of Siegburg, where their heads were shaved; they were clothed in prison garb and were obliged to set to learning the tailoring trade.

Both were released in September, 1915, informed that their penalties had been reduced to six weeks. Last year Senator Potie was sent back to Haubourdin without explanation. Senator Potie refused to resume his functions as mayor, replying to the Germans that after having been imprisoned with convicts his dignity as a Frenchman prevented him from resuming his functions of mayor so long as the town was occupied by the Germans.

M. Cordonnier, who is nearly 70, is still a prisoner of the Germans.

BROWN AUTO COMPANY REPORT SUCCESS WITH MINUTE-MAN SIX

W. E. Brown, manager of the Brown Auto company, says he is very much pleased with the success his company is having with the Lexington Minute-Man Six, and that the public is quick to realize the many up-to-date features offered in this car that are not found in others of a similar price.

The Moore multiple exhaust system has proven a revelation to all who have had an opportunity of testing out the pulling power of this car, and this system not only gives the motor 22.8 per cent more power than any other motor of similar size and design, but it eliminates carbon from forming in the motor, which within itself is a very important item to be considered.

The general appearance and finish of the Lexington far surpasses that of others in its price class, and naturally this car commands attention of the public wherever it is shown, and the ease of operation which it has can only be appreciated by those who have driven other cars and then get behind the wheel of the Minute-Man Six. It speaks for itself in greater terms than can be expressed in words, and every one who is interested in the purchase of a car should by all means drive one of these cars before making their final decision.

PLAN BIG BARGE LINE

Special to The News.

New Orleans, June 30.—At a meeting of representatives of all the commercial organizations of New Orleans and municipal and state officials today a committee was appointed to immediately formulate plans for organization of a barge line to be operated between New Orleans, Memphis and St Louis, with a capitalization of $2,000,000. The meeting decided that New Orleans would raise $750,000 of the $2,000,000. Tentative plans include operation of a fleet of fifty or more steam barges on the Mississippi.

SAVE THE FUEL URGES HARROUN

Detroit, July 1.—Unless steps are immediately taken to conserve the national supply of gasoline, the demands of war will create a new and tremendously serious situation in America's fuel supply.

So declares Ray Harroun, vice-president of the Harroun Motors corporation and a carburetion expert of national fame.

Motor cars, trucks and airplanes used in war will add tremendously to the nation's consumption of fuel, Mr. Harroun points out. And millions of barrels will be burned by the thousands of patrol boats and submarine chasers.

The Big Opportunity.

This marine branch of the service offers, in Mr. Harroun's opinion, the great opportunity for fuel conservation. Only a few simple changes are needed to fit these motors for the use of kerosene, instead of gasoline.

"As a motor car fuel, kerosene has been hampered by its odor, the need of an auxiliary gasoline tank for starting purposes and by the problem of heat regulation in improperly designed motors," adds Mr. Harroun. "In an age of prodigal expenditures and comparatively cheap gasoline, these elements have overbalanced the saving which would otherwise have resulted.

"But these objections do not hold true in the sea-going yacht with its engineers and its abundance of cold water always at hand.

Millions Of Barrels.

These are motors that consume barrels of fuel, where motor cars use quarts. Converted to kerosene equipment, they would be using what is virtually a by-product, and there would be no loss of efficiency."

That kerosene can be burned in these motors Harroun is confident. His own research in the field of kerosene resulted years ago in an effective series of demonstrations with a carburetor of his own design which, in touring and racing, showed itself fully capable of holding its own against gasoline, even in motor car engines.

It was with this carburetor and with kerosene as a fuel that Teddy Tetzlaff and the late Billy Carlson and Hughie Hughes won in 1914 more than 100 races, including in their campaign money-winning feats in nearly all the main road and speedway classics of the year.

WACO BOY WRITES FROM AUSTIN ON SERVICE IN EMBRYO U. S. AIR CORPS

The following letter has just been received by Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Mason, 1724 Franklin, from their son, Herbert M. Mason, now in the aviation school at Austin:

"Austin, Texas, Sunday, 1917.

"Dear Father and Mother:

"No doubt you are waiting for an explanation which I didn't think was necessary until yesterday. But it would require a pad of this to convince you, I'm afraid, and I haven't the pad, and I will be seeing you soon because if it is impossible for you both to come to Austin before I leave, I think that I can arrange to come home for the week-end. Until then, believe me, I did not accept this advancement and opportunity of becoming one of the army's most valuable men without due and careful consideration and advice from men who know.

"In the first place, the fact that I was physically fit and had the qualifications peculiar to air service is worth a great deal to me. As for the danger—that word isn't in my vocabulary—it is essential that I forget it. Carelessness is the cause of danger and care is the remedy. Realizing that my health is going to depend on carefulness, plus due caution, you need not fear that I will not practice both.

"My work is interesting and I am sure that I am going to be satisfied. The school, as you probably know, is at State university. We are rooming in the men's dormitory, 'B' hall, just across from the main building. Most of the lectures and classes we attend in the engineering building. The work on motors is carried on in the power building and we have two planes set up in the gymnasium. It reminds one of 'college days'—only more serious and very military. The course is somewhat different and my rapidly increasing library on my desk still seems just a little strange, i. e., 'Types of Airplanes,' 'The Aviator and the Weather Bureau,' 'The Lewis Automatic Rifle,' 'Fighting in Air,' etc.

"The course here is for eight weeks. It is divided into two 'grades,' the men in these two grades being organized into two companies or 'wings.' The first three weeks one is in the junior wing and the last five in the senior wing, and on account of having previous service I have two weeks to my credit and only having been here one week I go into the senior wing Monday, leaving only five weeks to finish here.

"There are men here from all over the United States and some have already had previous experience in flying. There are about ninety of us at present, all young fellows between 21 and 30, and as a whole, the finest group of men I have ever had the pleasure of associating with. Northerners, Southerners, Easterners and Westerners—brokers, automobile experts, motion picture actors, writers, club men, college men and aviators; all walks of life converge here and make one harmonious unit—('all good fellows')—of the flying corps.

"We are kept very busy and have a great deal of studying to do. There are lectures on 'Aeronautics,' 'Flying,' 'Machine Gun Operation' and 'Fighting in the Air.' There are courses in meteorology, astronomy, gas motors and military map reading and sketching. We must all know wireless telegraphy and photography. There are the bulletins of 'confidential information' direct from the front and notes from the royal flying corps to remember and a hundred other bits of information to pick up and store for future reference.

"We who go into the senior wing next week should graduate about August 1. From here we will either go to San Diego, Cal.; Dayton, Ohio, or San Antonio, depending upon the condition of air currents at that time. Then will follow several weeks of instruction in the air. When we can successfully handle our machines in the air, we are commissioned as first lieutenants and take up the essentials of fighting in the air. We must learn to handle our machines under every conceivable condition. We must learn to feel just as much at home while doing 'tail spins,' 'rolls,' 'dives' and the countless other necessary 'stunts' as we would on the ground. We must learn to laugh when we skid on a turn or accidentally go into a 'spiral dive' while attempting a 'straight-up' climb and one's motor stalls, he is a dead weight and may flip over backwards, he must nonchalantly fall 1,000 feet or so at 150 miles an hour until he has regained his flying speed, then 'flatten out,' pick out a landing place and glide to it. It is all very simple and safe, so don't worry about your son.

"The Austin people certainly treat us royally—almost as distinguished visitors. A reception was given the corps last evening by the young ladies of the woman's building, State university.

"Forgot to mention that I was made cadet captain of the junior wing this week. Lots of love to the mater and pater. Your son,

"HERBERT M. MASON."

MEN COMING HERE FOR ARMY CAMP WORK

It is stated by the commercial organizations that quite a number of persons have come to Waco already, to get work in connection with the army camp.

Some of those who have come have some definite work in view and some are said to have assurances of something to do, while others have come simply in the hope of finding something. It is believed that the engineers will be here this week, and that within a reasonably short time there will be steps taken looking to putting the camp in readiness for the soldiers.

ORPHANAGE CHILDREN GUESTS OF THE REX

A hundred and fifty happy children were at the Rex theatre Saturday morning and enjoyed "When Baby Forgot" to the very fullest extent.

It was the children of the Methodist orphanage, and they were a happy lot. The thought of pleasure for these children originated with Col. W. W. Seley, who made the plans for this pleasure. Local Superintendent H. B. Ross of the street railway company transported the children and their chaperons to and from the picture show without charge, while Manager W. F. Sonneman allowed the children to go in free. The pleasure of the children was ample reward for all who arranged the event for them.

FARMER SAYS HE SPENT THOUSANDS WITHOUT RELIEF

TEXAS MAN SUFFER FOR TWENTY YEARS AND COULDN'T FIND RELIEF—SAYS TANLAC MADE HIM WELL AND STRONG AGAIN.

"I have spent thousands of dollars in the past twenty years for treatment and medicines trying to get relief from my troubles and it's a fact, six bottles of this Tanlac have done me more real, genuine good than everything else put together," said C. W. Goodman, a well-known and prosperous farmer of Dells Valley, Texas.

"I suffered all the time from indigestion," he continued, "and would get so dizzy I could hardly walk. Finally I got to having spells of acute indigestion and suffered so at times I would just as soon be dead. I had awful pains in my stomach and the gas would push on my lungs and heart so I could hardly get my breath. The gas would swell me up sometimes until it hurt me to button my clothes and I felt like I was about to blow up.

"I was so nervous, if any one stamped their foot, or spoke loud to me I would go all to pieces. I have walked the floor all night long many a time trying to get realief from smothering spells and other miserable feelings that kept me awake. The last spell I had was so awful I just can't describe it like it was. The folks had to sit up with me all night and gave me everything they knew about but in spite of it all, it looked like I couldn't live. I took medicines of different kinds until I was told my system wouldn't stand any more and I never got easy until I drank a quantity of warm salt water and began to vomit. Then I got some relief but I was so weak I wasn't able to do any kind of work for three or four days.

"A lump would often form in the pit of my stomach that felt like a rock. I lived on raw eggs four months and lost flesh until I weighed only a hundred and five pounds. I guess I have used a good sized bucket of charcoal tablets and I bought ten dollars' worth of pepsin at a time. I even went to health resorts but nothing did me any good except for a little while at a time.

"Since taking Tanlac I feel like a new man. I don't know how much I have picked up in weight but all my friends want to know what I have been doing to gain so much and make me look so well and I always tell them I am taking Tanlac, the best medicine I have ever seen. Before I took it I couldn't do any work at all without playing completely out, but I can now. I sleep well now and am doing fine and I haven't had one of those terrible attacks of acute indigestion since taking Tanlac. I feel a hundred per cent better now than I have in fifteen or twenty years and I believe Tanlac is the best medicine ever made."

Tanlac is sold in Waco at Morrison's Old Corner Drug store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative.—Adv.

THREE LANGUAGES ARE REPRESENTED BY SWISS PRESS OF FOUR GROUPS

By Associated Press.

Berne, June 30.—It is doubtful whether any country in or out of the war, wether under the iron hand of the censor or not, and whether pro-Ally or pro-German in its sympathies, has as peculiar and conglomerate a problem as Switzerland with its newspapers in three languages.

A strong under-current of patriotism, a thoroughgoing conviction that, whatever the rights and wronges of the war may be or where they may lie, the duty of the Swiss newspapers is first and foremost to Switzerland, has thus far tended to restrain them from dividing irretrievably into two camps. This has been especially true of the older and more conservative papers, both those printed in German and those in French. But the upcropping or Germanophile or Francophile journals, many of them war mushrooms, has been a strain not only on Swiss neutrality but on the inner peace and good temper of the country.

The Swiss press can be divided roughly into four groups. The first consists of the old-time, conservative papers, both French and Germans, which have striven desperately to be neutral. The second class embraces many of the Francophile papers published in western Switzerland. They are frankly anti-German, and campaign against the enemies of France.

The third class includes the Germanophile papers, many in number, though small in influence, which outdo even the Pan-German papers of Germany in their bitterness, especially against America, and which operate along the well-known German psychological lines when trying to influence public opinion. That is to say, they metaphorically produce the effect of a bull in a China shop when attempting to plead the German cause, chiefly because they try to jam pro-German arguments and the justice of the German cause down their readers' throats.

The fourth class comprises the socialist papers of Switzerland, which are violently anti-German, anti-Swiss, anti-French and in general anti-everything.

The Francophile papers are much gentler in their anti-Germanism than are the Germanophile papers in the anti-Ententism. All the papers are normally at least bound to print the war reports of both sides, but the French language papers conduct their anti-German work by cleverly written headlines that tend to cast doubt on the truth of the German reports, ad that generally are teeming with sarcasm, often good-tempered.

The Germanophile papers on the contrary—most of them are German-owned or subsidized—employ a heavy, ponderous style of attack. Their editorials are generally bitter, and as often as not are full of mis-information.

To the credit of the majority of the Swiss be it said that they—and this includes a majority of the German-speaking Swiss—have a hearty contempt for both "hile" types, especially the Germanophile.

Neutrality is almost a holy word in Switzerland; certainly a word to conjure with. In no other phase of the public life of the country does it come more nearly being violated than through a portion of the press. Another, unfortunately smaller number numerically, upholds neutrality as staunchly as the Swiss army or government.

MANY CHANGES TO BE PROVIDED IN VOTING LAW

SOLDIERS AND SAILORS TO BE ALLOWED TO VOTE AT HOME.

By Associated Press.

London, June 30.—Sweeping changes in the election system in this country are provided for in a bill now before Parliament. Proportional representation which aims to give all elements a larger voice in the government, the granting of the vote to women more than thirty years old and giving the franchise to all soldiers and sailors who are the outstanding features of the measure.

This new franchise reform bill, officially known as the Representation of the People's Bill, is to a large extent the result of an investigation conducted over a period of nearly ten years by a royal commission appointed to "examine the various schemes which have been adopted or proposed in order to secure a fully representative character for popularly elected legislative bodies." Here are some of the provisions of the bill now before parliament:

Men of 21 years and over to have a vote on the basis of six months' residene or occupation of business premises. An elector may have two votes and no more —one for residence in one constituency and one for business premises, of the value of 10 pounds a year, in another.

Any woman of 30 years old who is entitled to vote at the municipal elections or who is the wife of any man who is entitled to vote at such election, is to be entitled to vote in the national elections for members of parliament.

Soldiers and sailors of legal age to be qualified to vote in the area in which they ordinarily reside.

Half-yearly revision of the national voting list and all elections for parliament to be held on the one way.

Proportional representation in extension urban areas, and redistribution of seats on a basis of population.

One member of parliament for every 70,000 of the population. No member for a town under 50,000.

The provisions of the women's suffrage and proportional representation clauses are left for final decision by the house of commons; they may be modified as suits the judgment of the majority of the members.

The proportional representation feature of the bill has attracted most attention here. It provides for many changes in the system of representation, chief of which perhaps is that it gives the constituents of defeated candidates for member of parliament in a three-cornered fight actual representation in the government. The system has been in force in Belgium for twenty years before the war and has just been adopted in Holland.

Here is an example of the system that the reform remedies: In a district having 5000 registered voters there are three candidates for one vacant seat. Suppose that candidate A polls 2000 votes, candidate B polls 1800 votes and candidate C polls 1200 votes. The result is that candidate A is returned at the head of the poll with 2000 votes; while 3000 voters have signified their unwillingness to have him as their representative.

To prevent this return of plurality candidates it is proposed to introduce the alternative vote into the nation's electoral system. Instead of putting a cross (x) on the ballot against the name of the candidate he prefers, the voter, under the system of the alternative vote, would place the numeral 1 against the candidate's name and the numeral 2 against the name of the candidate who came next in his choice. When the votes were counted those marked 1 would be added for each candidate in the first place and if the addition showed an absolute majority of the votes polled for any candidate, that candidate would be declared to be duly elected.

But if the addition of the first-choice votes did not give an absolute majority for any candidate, then the following procedure would be adopted: The candidate at the bottom of the poll would be declared defeated, and his name eliminated but his ballot papers would be re-examined, and the votes transferred to the second choices as marked on those papers. If, after the transfer of such votes some candidate had an absolute majority, he would be declared elected. If not, the candidate left at the bottom of the poll by the first elimination would be declared defeated and his votes transferred to the second choices. This process would continue until one of the candidates had an absolute majority. In this way the alternative vote would secure the advantage not only of a second ballot, but of successive ballots should they be required.

BEER RATIONING IS NOW IN FORCE IN ENGLAND

By Associated Press.

London, June 30.—Beer rationing has set in the south of England, particularly in the country villages near the big military camps. Saloonkeepers are now receiving only a proportion of their former supply, and are being kept severely down in supplies of spiritous liquirs. During the week-end there are now many South-of-England villages where not a drop of spirits may be had.

London is affected in patches. The most famous eating house in the Strand will only serve half a pint of beer to each customer at lunch or dinner. Several saloons in the center of the city have had to go for two or three days without beer, and one license holder applied to the licensing board to find out if it would jeopardize his license if he closed up his cafe for a few days, as he had no beer to sell, and could obtain no further supplies for nearly a week.

Use Newbro's Herpicide
IN TIME AND YOU WILL NEVER NEED FALSE HAIR

Wearing false hair is a harmless deceit of which many ladies are guilty. These women are all objects for sympathy rather than criticism.

Early neglect in the care of the scalp has caused the loss of so much hair that their personal appearance is sadly marred. To correct this defect they resort to artificial hair hoping by so doing to hide the results of their earlier inattention to the details of their toilet. These unfortunates are deceiving no one but themselves as no artificial hair no matter how costly, ever has the snap and luster nor can it be made to look as pretty and attractive as natural hair.

Most ladies would resent any imputation of personal carelessness and neglect. And yet very many permit their natural hair to become so dull, brittle and lusterless that it looks no better than that bought at the store.

All this is as unfortunate as it is unnecessary. Hair that is unsightly or thin may usually be attributed to the destroying effects of Dandruff. This destructive formation shortly robs the hair of life, with the result that it finally loosens and drops out.

There is a preparation, sold and guaranteed by all dealers, the intelligent use of which will kill the dandruff germ. It cleanses the scalp of all accumulations and makes the hair shine with the luster of life and beauty. That remedy is Newbro's Herpicide, the Original Germ-Remedy for Dandruff. In no way can you add more to your personal charm and attractiveness than by the use of this remarkable and well known scalp prophylactic.

On account of its astonishing merit and its delightful and exquisite odor, Herpicide finds users everywhere among all classes. It may be purchased in 50 cent and $1.00 sizes at all drug stores and toilet goods counters. Applications may be obtained at the better barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

Upon receipt of 10 cents in postage or silver to cover cost of packing and mailing, The Herpicide Co., Dept. S, Detroit, Mich., will send to any address a nice sample bottle of Herpicide and an interesting booklet on the care of the hair.

Being the Twentieth and Continuation of a Series of Talks on Bills and the Prompt Payment of Them.

PAY YOUR BILLS

Pay your bills. Pay your bills! PAY YOUR BILLS!!!

If you are given to be slow in paying your bills, or careless as to the amount you owe—keep that "PAY YOUR BILLS" phrase in your mind all the time.

The way you pay your bills is a sure indication of your character.

Incur obligations—forget obligations—ignore obligations—and you immediately lose your standing for HONESTY and HONOR.

Can You Call Yourself an HONEST MAN and Not Pay Your Bills?——

Can you be an HONORABLE MAN and not pay your bills?

Does any city or any community want people in it who do not pay their bills?

Do they not hinder rather than help a city? Do you act so as to reflect credit on Waco? Are the business and professional men of Waco glad you live here?

When they meet you on the street are they proud of you or do they think of that old Bill you awe them?

Get Out

If you're in the hole and rapidly sinking in the mire of DEBT—get out.

MAKE THE EFFORT AND YOU CAN.

If you sink—you're a weakling. You give up too easily.

You got yourself in and YOU CAN get yourself out.

Pull yourself together. Get your head to working and don't blame your conditions onto misfortune.

BE A MAN—you can—and face about. Put your back to the wall and fight. Fight to regain your honor and your former respectable standing.

Only COWARDS DODGE conditions forced upon them by their own volition and seek the easier way through the BANKRUPT COURT.

BE A MAN. Go see your creditors—go to them, face to face and eye to eye, and tell them that you are going to come back. Tell them of your condition—tell them what you can do. They'll help you—they'll lend a willing hand.

—AND THEN YOU DO IT.

—AND THEN YOU'RE BACK—respected by the community, and more—BY YOURSELF—which, after all, is the greater, because you know so much more about yourself that you dare not tell the other fellow.

THE PASSING OF THE WOODEN PASSENGER CAR.

THE recommendation of the interstate commerce commission, repeated in its latest annual report, 'that the use of steel cars in passenger train service be required' seems in a fair way toward being carried out without further effort on the part of the commission," says the Railway Age Gazette in an editorial in its current issue. The editorial is based upon a bulletin of the special committee on relations of railway operation to legislation, published in the same issue, in which it is shown that only three wooden cars for passenger train service were built in 1916 and only ten wooden cars for passenger train service were under construction on January 1, 1917.

The building of wooden passenger train cars has practically ceased. The bulletin shows that there were in passenger train service on January 1, 1909, approximately 629 all steel cars and 673 cars having steel underframes. On January 1, 1917, there were in such service 15,754 all steel cars and 6,136 cars having steel underframes, representing increases of 2,405 per cent and 812 per cent, respectively. There are now in service 39,169 wooden cars in passenger train service, indicating a retirement of 8,957 wooden cars from service since January 1, 1912, the date of the previous census. Of this number 2,213 were retired during the calendar year 1916. This record includes a total of 61,209 passenger train cars and covers reports from roads representing 235,406 miles of railway in the United States.

EDUCATION AND THE WAR.

IT is of the utmost importance that there shall be no lowering in the efficiency of our systems of education," says Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education, discussing education and the war.

"Schools and other agencies of education must be maintained at whatever necessary cost and against all work except as may be necessary for the national defense, which is, of course, our immediate task and must be kept constantly in mind and have right of way everywhere and at all times. From the beginning of our participation in the war we should avoid the mistakes which some other countries have made to their hurt and which they are now trying to correct.

"If the war should be long and severe, there will be great need in its later days for many young men and women of scientific knowledge, training and skill; and it may then be much more difficult than it is now to support our schools, to spare our children and youth from other service and to permit them to attend school. Therefore no school should close its doors now or shorten its term unnecessarily. All young men and women in college should remain and use their time to the very best advantage, except such as may find it necessary to leave for immediate profitable employment in some productive occupation or for the acceptance of some position in some branch of the military service, which position cannot be so well filled by any one else. All children in the elementary schools and as nearly as possible all high school pupils should remain in school through the entire session.

"When the war is over, whether within a few months or after many years, there will be such demands upon this country for men and women of scientific knowledge, technical skill and general culture as have never before come to any country. The world must be rebuilt. This country must play a far more important part than it has in the past in agriculture, manufacturing and commerce, and also in the things of cultural life—art, literature, music, scientific discovery."

THIS HAPPENED IN LONDON; IT MAY HAPPEN HERE.

OVER the city there is the haze of June heat. In the school room there is silence save for the murmur of little children reciting their simple lessons, or occasionally the soft laughter of a tot who has found something amusing even in the tedium of school in summer time.

It is as peaceful a scene as could possibly be imagined. It is beautiful—this gathering of little ones ranging in age from 5 to 7, just starting on the thorny path to knowledge.

In the twinkling of an eye all this is changed. Overhead there is a sound of rending timbers and then within the room itself there is a terrific blinding, shattering explosion. When the gas and the smoke clear away, all is silence again save for the pitiful moans of mere babes who are suffering the last agonies of torture. Some of the tots have had arms and legs torn off, others are terribly lacerated or burned or buried amid wreckage. Some are unrecognizable.

In the absence of ambulances, ordinary grocers' wagons are used to cart away the little sufferers to the hospitals, while grief-stricken and almost insane mothers clamor for news of the fate of their children.

This is a picture of what happened in a school in London on June 13 of this year. It may all sound very far away to you. Happening on the other side of the ocean, it may be hard for you to visualize it. Your own sturdy little John or curly-haired Mary seems so safe from harm, so far removed from the horrors of war.

And yet, if we do not speedily help England and France to defeat German militarism, if we allow our allies to be beaten to their knees—all the beastly, barbarous, ruthless practices the Prussian war-makers have introduced into the world will be brought to our shores and our own doors.

The same "military necessity" that caused German aviators to fly from Belgium over London and massacre innocent children with high-powered explosive bombs would cause them once they effected a landing anywhere on the American coast—to murder our women and children, too.

We must face the facts. We must realize what we are fighting. It is time to stop deluding ourselves with the pleasant dream that whatever may come, our own fair land will not be blasted by the guns of the German war-makers. If we Americans want to keep the Huns out of America, we must whip them on the seas and in the trenches of France.

THE WARRIOR AND THE ENGINEER

BY FRANK CRANE.

Militarism, as a bugaboo, is being eliminated in this war.

That is to say, the professional soldier is passing. He is giving way to the mechanical expert.

The war has gone far enough to show that it is going to be won by the side that can make the most shells, tanks, submarines, guns, and other destructive machinery, not by the soldier.

The old-fashioned charge, with the leader waving his sword at the front, and the boys coming along double quick, shoulder to shoulder, shouting the battle cry of freedom and all that sort of thing, is not seen.

When there is to be a battle it is all planned out by clerks with compasses, tables of logarithms, and ruled paper. Shells are fired at an enemy out of sight. When the infantry is to advance each man is told what to do, is given a map, and crawls out on his belly with his snickersnee in one hand and a bomb in the other, to clean up any stray living beings that have been left by the curtain of fire. It is as unromantic as the stockyards.

The general does not bestride a charger, a la John A. Logan's bronze figure on the Chicago lake front. He sits at a table in some little cottage away out of danger, surrounded by telephones. He runs the battle very much like Sears, Roebuck & Co. run an advertising campaign. It's a business age we're in, and nowhere more businesslike than in war.

Swords and spurs are obsolete. Much of the fighting is done with clubs, hand grenades, and the like, one Italian company even silencing an Austrian battery by throwing stones. What personal element remains in modern warfare is mostly primitive. Even the rifle is losing importance, the most useful part being the bayonet, which is practically a knife on the end of a stick. The machine gun is replacing it.

The horse is almost as obsolete on the Hindenburg line as he is on Fifth avenue. It is the long-distance Seventy-five, the delicate and complicated airplane—it is the machine, it is the expert mechanic that has taken the place of the professional soldier.

All of which means that future wars will be won by economic efficiency, by the nation that is best prepared in matters of transportation, food conservation, finance, mechanical workmanship, and general scientific up-to-dateness.

These things are the products of peace. The best preparation for war is perfection in the arts of peace, such as invention, manufacture, and business system. The danger from an inroad of a barbarous horde is practically nil.

The most valuable contribution America will make toward victory is not the number of her fighting men, but her genius in organization, her financial heft, her skill, resourcefulness, and War is substituting the engineer for the warrior.

Our Boyhood Ambitions

New York Day By Day

By O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, June 30.—It is fit that patriotism must exact its little sacrifices but there is a well known writer, who long ago realized that the cabaret put the "din" in dinner, and now realizes that patriotism has its drawbacks. He hopes that never again will a cabaret orchestra play the "Star Spangled Banner" just as the boss is about to give him a raise.

The young man came to New York to bask in the presence of the Great Publisher. After his arrival in town he hurried to a barber shop and asked the white-coated artiste to give him everything on the menu—except conversation. He wanted to fashion pretty phrases while he was being made presentable.

In the chair he went over his speech many times and when he met the publisher at dinner he was ready for eventualities. The publisher has his own system of preparing his men for a salary boost. The formula runs something like this: "Let me see you have been with the paper so many years. You have done this and you have left undone things you should have done—but you have progressed. Your salary is so much."

At this point the publisher invariably takes out a pad and figures to the penny the percentage that the increased salary will nick the gross receipts and then he turns to the eager and waiting employee to announce the amount of the raise.

Things went through according to schedule. They had a delightful meal and were idling over the demi-tasste when the publisher began.

"Let me see, you have been with the paper so many years."

And the young employe was all attention. He wanted to say: "Yes, yes. Go on! your story interests me strangely," but he refrained. Some publishers have no sense of humor.

Finally the publisher had said: "Your salary is so much." And he pulled out his pad to figure. The Great Moment had arrived and the employe sat tense. The figuring finished and the publisher looked up at him. The young man leaned over to catch every syllable.

And then it happened. The orchestra struck up "The Star Spangled Banner." The publisher stood up. So did the young man. And when they sat down he forgot the raise and began to talk of other things. Three hours later the disappointed fledgling left towns sans boost.

The ladies of the chorus have been chortling a satisfying chort or two over the verdict secured by Miss Honora O'Brien, the young Irish girl, of $225,000 for the jilt she received at the hands of John B. Manning, the octogenarian millionaire.

The cardiac quotations discussed along the Rialto after the verdict ran $1,000 for a heart dent, $10,000 for a bruise, $25,000 for a tear and $100,000 for a break.

It is said that the lawyer who won the verdict for the pretty colleen is being besieged by many young girls whose fondness for prominent men is quite well known.

One chorus queen declared that in the matter of securing damages as a love balm had been rightly sized up by the English poet in the lines:

"A woman, like the Koh-i-noor,
Mounts to the price that's put on her.

Among the persons in New York who have decided to forego light and fluffy conversation forever is Hubert Wiss, a clerk. The other day he said something which at the moment impressed him as being exceedingly amusing—quite the best thing he had done orally this season—and as a result of it he is wearing a sanitary gauzze turban and expression of begloomed reminiscence.

Mr. Wiss was a witness in court against Stephen Madden of Hartford, Conn., whom he charged with making all the dents under the gauze turban. Mr. Madden, a studious-looking man of medium size, wore a white creased felt hat with a fancy band and white spats over tan shoes.

"Why did you hit this man to begin with?" asked the court.

"It was his own fault," answered Mr. Madden. "I didn't know him and he insulted me when I asked a simple question.

"I told him I wanted to go to Yonkers."

"Well," said the magistrate.

"Well, he said I looked it."

Over on the East Side there was an excellent reason for the exemption of a stout peddler. Asked why he desired to refrain from battle, he said: "Two years ago I got my glasses off so's I can't see where I'm goin'. I bumps into a Delancey street car and I breaks all d' fingers on d' left feet. Now I'm a no good walker."

Miss Luella Johns pulled up in front of the Hotel Majestic the other morning in a massive car that had evidently seen much service. "Well, I'm glad this is over with," she said to an elderly couple in the back seat. Miss Johns drove the car from Portland, Oregon, to New York. She was six weeks on the trip and did not bring a mechanician. She is 17 years old and has been driving a car for five years.

New songs heard in the cabarets: "On the Party Line," "Where Do We Go From Here," and "Everybody Loves a 'Jazz' Band." Regarding the truthfulness of the last title they have erred in one particular instance.

He has studied art in Munich. He is an American. He knows automobiles. The car came along. He came to America and learned all about auto trucks. I met him at the Majestics. His career has been abandoned. He is off to New Zealand to teach them how to use trucks, then Java, the Philippines and Cuba. Later, he will go to Russia, where thousands of machines are war broken. "I want to help these men to get those machines right and teach them to how to keep them right. They need them at the front. Perhaps it isn't patriotism of a high degree, but I'm doing my bit and I am giving up what I love most in the world—to be a painter." Then, too, there are three well-known artists and a cartoonist of renown in New York who are abandoning their careers to go to France.

The new roof gardens in New York are charging 20c for a glass of beer and 50c for a high ball—and they are crowded mightily. A cocktail is sold for 40c and in all the places cover charge of $1 a person is made before the diner has anything to eat. Food is a shade highher than in most cafes, but no one seems to complain. Roof gardens are considered smart and when a thing is considered "smart" in Gotham the people do not care what it costs.

Economy—that's the word! with the accent on the "con." All the girls who have been venturing out—in 1917 model bathing suits have practiced economy in buying material. No material has been wasted on these special sets of scenery when cloth is needed for soldiers' uniforms.

In a few cases the designers of the suits were not well informed on military strategy, which warns against having lines extended too far. Observing the first effect of the war on bathing suits, the economizing of material to a degree which seems almost too patriotic, one wonders if the next step will be to adopt the style of bathing suits which one used to see on photographs of Ostend, just as a tribute to Belgium.

Those suits were about the size of a bandana handkerchief, of zebra stripes around the equator.

Keep the Same Hours.

Wife—Robert, how can you stay away from home so late nights?

Hub—Oh, easily, I acquired the habit while I was courting you, my dear.—Boston Transcript.

Household Thrift.

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE.

Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Psychology and Parenthood," Etc.

Household thrift has always been desirable. Today, with a world-wide economic crisis bulking ever larger, household thrift has become imperative. And real household thrift means much.

It means, in the first place, care in the preservation and preparation of food, economy in the consumption of food, and avoidance of all table waste.

Not so much as a single slice of left-over bread should be wasted.

In one good sized slice of bread, according to experts of the United States Department of Agriculture, there is on the average about three-fourths of an ounce of flour. In the United States there are 20,000,000 homes.

Consequently a single slice wasted in each of these homes would amount to a daily waste of over 14,000,000 ounces of flour—or enough flour for more than 1,000,000 one-pound loaves of bread.

With flour costing what is does today and thousands of people threatened with under-nourishment because of the high cost of food in general, even the waste of one slice of bread may reasonably be called criminal negligence.

So with all foodstuffs. Thrift in their use is a paramount duty in every home.

Household thrift should also include thrift in the use of fuel, paper and clothing.

Coal and gas shoudl not be wasted in keep kitchen stoves needlessly going at full blast. All paper possible should be saved for the junk man, who can dispose of it to reduce in some degree the country's economic burden.

As for clothing, let me quote this urgent warning by the secretary of agriculture:

"Clothing is largely an agricultural product and represents the results of labor on the sheep ranges, in cotton fields and in mills and factories.

"Whenever a useful garment is needlessly discarded, material needed to keep some one warm or dry may be consumed merely to gratify a passing fancy. Women would do well to look upon clothing at this time more particularly from the utilitarian point of view.

"Leather, too, is scarce, and the proper shoeing of armies calls for great supplies of this material. There are only so many pairs of shoes in each hide, and there is a shortage of animals for leather as well as for meat.

"Anything that can be done to encourage adults or children to take care of their shoes and make them last longer means that so much more leather is available for other purposes."

Finally, and by no means the least important item in household thrift, the home should be kept really clean from attic to cellar. If there has been carelessness in this respect, housecleaning should be begun at once.

Dust and dirt breed disease. Disease lowers national as well as individual efficiency. And national efficiency, as never before, needs now to be kept at the highest possible level.

Again I quote the secretary of agriculture:

"Demonstrate thrift in your homes and encourage thrift among your neighbors.

"Make saving rather than spending your social standard.

"Make economy fashionable lest it become obligatory."

A man with red hair, a wooden leg and a hairlip is never much of a success as a fugitive from justice. Even the detectives are apt to recognize him.

A Pennsylvania man has been arrested 111 times. While other men have spent their time waiting in barber shops, he has been in jail.

"All the stage hands went on a strike the other night. The manager had to do all the work."

"Had to shift for himself, eh?"—Widow.

American Hero of the Foreign Legion

Tells the Story of His Fight for France

BY CAPTAIN CHARLES SWEENY,
Of the Foreign Legion.

(In the preceding articles Captain Sweeny has told of the period of preliminary training and of the march to the trenches, on which the green troops have their introduction to war. Today he tells realistically of life in the trenches.)

NO. THREE—A SOLDIER'S LIFE IN THE TRENCHES

Monotony and vermin and mud and cold and thrills and dulling work and danger and that gambler's happiness which only the soldier knows in its fullest perfection—all these things enter into life in the trenches.

During the day a front trench is somnolent, grouchy, dull. Only the sentinels are awake. They do their two-hour guards, watching against a possible surprise by the enemy. The other men of the company lie in their dugouts. While they can, they sleep. They eat at the ordained intervals. They grease their boots and patch their clothes, and sometimes try to make themselves clean. If they are very lucky, there is water enough so they can wash their faces. It matters very little. In the front trench one rarely is able to shave, anyhow. The morning toilet is merely the rubbing of red eyes with gruby fingers and stretching muscles kinked by the cold and growling at the comrade. It is at night that one is alive. Then the trench is lined with active figures. The night is noisy and furious. But let us consider trench routine as the soldiers knows it.

Sometimes the company spends six days in and six days out. Sometimes it does six days in the front trench, six days in the intermediate, and six in what the army ironists call "repose" in the rear. There is little danger of surprise by day in the front trench. An enemy must be mad to try to penetrate then that tangle of rusty wires which lie at the eye-level as you glance out through the trench ports. The sentinels are posted and the men who have been awake all night sleep in their dugouts, of which the openings are barely above the level of the trench floor. Before turning in they do the "first fatigue duty," which is the cleaning up of trenches and dugouts. Coffee and bread are brought in by fatigue parties from the kitchens back of the lines. After breakfast they go to sleep.

The Work of the Sentinel.

The sentinels stand at their posts, delighting in the warmth of the sun upon their backs after the chill of the night. Each has a sector of the trench opposite to watch. One gets a bug's-eye view of the terrain because one is hardly above the level of the earth. New hands find a difficulty sometimes in adjusting themselves to this change of status. Things which would be easily recognizable if they might stand on the trench parapet become puzzling, although easily seen. As the sun rises a certain uneasiness penetrates their minds. They begin to wonder how soon the enemey artillery will begin to register on their trench.

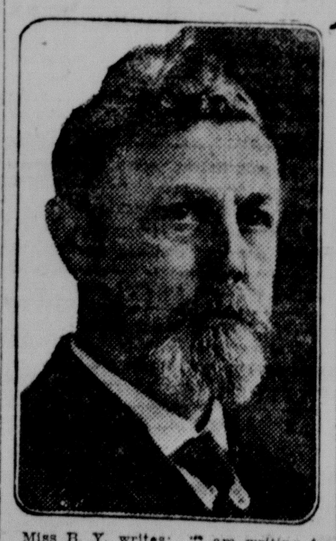
Each morning the artillery fires a few shots at the position opposite, searching for "probable error." Yesterday they had the range exactly, perhaps, but today the atmospheric conditions have altered. It is warmer or colder or mistier than the day before, and even the slightest change means the range must be adjusted. After the first registering shots there is peace, unless the day turns briskly warm. Then the "probable error" is corrected again. In the afternoon there are a few more sighting shots. This is merely preparedness. The artillery must be ready for anything at any time.

Watching Enemy Trenches.

The sentinels watch the wires and the brown ground of No Man's Land and the thin line of faded, upturned earth which marks the enemy trench through their periscopes. In front of each is a plan of the German trench opposite, with every turn and angle set out. Whatever may be seen across the way is set down on this plan: "Man smoking here at 10 o'clock"—"Working party here at 11 o'clock"—"Men cooked breakfast here," are sample notations. When the sentries are relieved at the end of their two-hours' guard these annotated maps are placed before the officer in command. After a few days' observation he is able to tell with accuracy what is going on in the other trench. He knows where the officer's dugout is, and where the Place d'Armes is, where the men met to eat and gossip, and where the machine guns are located.

Between times the sentries watch for the trench mortar bombs, for sometimes the minenwerfers are pneumatic, and one cannot hear the "sough" of the discharge, though one can always see the missile tumbling slowly across the sky. If anything seems worth the officer's attention he is signalled by a bell system to his dugout. At 10 o'clock the men all wake up and crawl out of their dugouts to take the sun and make what passes for a toilet in the trench and smoke a cigarette. A fatigue party goes out for the midday soup, and after it is served at 11 o'clock the men meet in the Place d'Armes to hear the news of the day. The sous-officers read the orders and the morning communique and any papers that may have found their way into the trenches. Then the men go back to the undergrounds, where they are required to stay as much as possible, because of the danger which always threatens in the open trench.

Four o'clock comes, and more soup and bread and coffee. Then the men are selected for the night outpost duty, and as soon as darkness falls they squirm over the parapet and wriggle across the open ground to the places where they must lie that night to guard against surprise.



Miss B. Y. writes: "I am writing for advice to cure myself of pimples and boils. My skin seems too oily."

Answer: The organs which eliminate waste matter need attention. Obtain three grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur tablets) and take regularly as per directions for several months.

Mrs. M. D. D. asks: "Do you think it is possible for me to increase my weight from 97 pounds to about 125 pounds?"

Answer: Yes, I believe that the regular use of a special tonic tablet will do this for you as it has for thousands of others. Ask your druggist for three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets in sealed package with full directions. Take them for several months to get the full benefit.

"Melville R." writes: "Should a man of forty-six find himself utterly incapacitated? Am weak, nervous, timid, self-conscious. Do not sleep well. Arise with a tired feeling, lame backs and often have severe headache in the back part of head. Fickle appetite, but when I do eat, do not get strength."

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, and symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Elwood streets, Dayton, Ohio, enclosing self-address stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious names will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

Answer: To use a common expression, "you have exceeded the speed limit" and your nervous system needs the aid of an invigorating tonic medicine. Get a tube of three grain cadomene tablets. Take as per directions and continue treatment several months if necessary.

* * *

"Uneasy" writes: "I am uneasy about my health. My kidneys and bladder are not well. Have spells of depression, do not sleep well, have to arise frequently. Urine bad odor and color very scant sometimes. My ankles puff and under my eyes I have "bags." Please prescribe."

Answer: Your symptoms indicate you need treatment to tone up the functions of kidneys and bladder. Obtain in sealed tubes balmwort tablets and take as per directions for several weeks, or until relief is experienced.

J. R. G. writes: "When a person becomes uncomfortable from excess fat do you believe in reducing with medicine treatment?

Answer: The treatment of excess fat for reduction can be carried out safely with five grain arbolene tablets. I do not advice indiscriminate medication, but this treatment seems to be uniformly successful.

NOTE: For many years Dr. Baker has been giving free advice and prescriptions to millions of people through the press columns, and doubtless has helped in relieving illness and distress more than any single individual in the world's history. Thousands have written him expressions of gratitude and confidence.

DRISKELL HEARD FROM FT. MEYER TRAINING CAMP

WACO BOY IN OFFICERS RESERVE THERE AND REPORTED DOING EXCELLENT WORK.

The following, clipped from the Staunton, (Va.) Daily News, will be of wide interest in Waco since it concerns W. P. Driskell, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Driskell of Waco.

"Col W. G. Kable, of the Staunton Military academy, has just received a letter from one of this year's graduates W. P. Driskell, who since leaving school has been at the Reserve Officers' Training camp at Fort Meyer where he has made excellent progress.

Friends of both Mr. Driskell and the school will be interested to read the letter, which follows:

4th Co. R. O. T. C.,
Fort Meyer, Va., June 22, 1917.

Col W. G. Kable,
S. M. A., Staunton, Va.

Dear Sir and Friend: It doesn't seem like seven weeks since I left old S. M. A. Time has certainly passed quickly. I have intended to write several times.

But the first three weeks we had so awful much to do and during our spare moments we had I was so tired that I couldn't write to any one. We drilled from 9 a. m. until 4:30 p. m., allowing a two-hour conference period from 1.30 to 3:30 p. m.

Colonel, I am doing fine. My training at S. M. A. has done me a world of good. The third week of camp I made a sergeant, and the next week I was made captain.

We had 168 men in our company. Some were lieutenants, captains and majors in the national guard and I was given command in preference to these men who should be better qualified than myself and who are older than I. Some of them fifteen of twenty years older.

I don't want you to think I am throwing bouquets at myself, Colonel, but you told me to let you know how I was getting along.

We have an excellent instructor who is a captain in the 39th infantry. Sincerely, W. P. DRISKELL, Jr.

DENNIS REPRESENTATIVE VISITS FURNITURE MARKETS

E. F. Carroll of R. T. Dennis & Co. leaves today on the Texas Special for St. Louis, Chicago and Grand Rapids, Mich., to visit the furniture markets and attend the two furniture expositions at Chicago and Grand Rapids, respectively.

Between the two expositions, on July 12 and 13, Mr. Carroll will attend the national Edison dealers' exposition in New York City. Mr. Carroll has been requested, by William Maxwell, vice president of the Edison company, to make an address on "Advertising" before the convention. Mr. Edison himself will be in attendance at the exposition. While there Mr. Carroll will also visit the Edison plant at Orange, N. J.

Mr. Carroll expects to be gone from Waco about three weeks, and anticipates being busy every minute of the time, attending the various expositions and purchasing stock for the coming season.

EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS MADE AT TIETZ HOTEL NOW

Extensive improvements have just been completed at the Tietz hotel, which have served to make this hostelry more attractive in appearance and more convenient for the guests.

The lobby and the dining room have both been completely remodeled. In the lobby the new woodwork is of oak in the natural finish, and the floor has been tiled. The dining room has been repainted and re-decorated.

Shower baths have been installed, and, in fact, the whole hotel has been "gone over" and improved.

"Are those fancy chickens you are raising?"

"I should say so," returned Mr. Crosslots. "Judging by my bills for chicken feed, every one of them is an epicure."—Washington Star.

"Dearie, we ought to plant some pie-plant."

"To be sure. And what sort of pies shall we raise?"—Kansas City Journal.

WACO SHIPPERS DELIGHTED WITH I. C. C. RATE CASE

REFUSAL OF RATE INCREASE MEANS GREAT SAVING TO BUSINESS.

Waco shippers were delighted that the interstate commerce commission refused to grant the 15 per cent increase in freight rates asked by the railroads. Shippers who expressed themselves said that much money will be saved through refusal of the interstate commerce commission to advance the rates. The following expressed themselves:

C. A. Sherman of the Herrick Hardware company: "The refusal to advance rates will mean a very great saving to shippers, and consequently to the public. In our line it will mean a saving of from $30 to $50 a car. We had a lot of contracts out, for shipments, and had this raise been granted the shipments would have had to move ahead of time, giving us a lot of things we do not need yet. The people will save largely by this act of the commission."

L. Migel of the Goldstein-Migel company: "It is well that the big increase was not granted. Such an increase at this time would have been felt decidedly, as prices already are very high on some things. The shippers will be saved a lot of money and the whole people will get the benefit of it in cheaper goods."

George G. Stubblefield, of The Grocery So Different: "The increase of 15 per cent would have been almost a disaster for the people, as with prices like they are, such an increase would have been marked. In our business it would have been felt decidedly, as groceries already are being sold on a very narrow margin, leaving but little for the dealer. It will be good news that the increase was not granted."

Joe Sanger, manager of The Famous: "I have not had time to go into the matter fully, but should say that the saving to the public will be considerable. The proposed advance was large, and the fact that it was not granted would seem to indicate that much money will be saved to business firms and consequently to the public."

TEXAS BRIEFS

DALLAS.—Believing that her house was haunted and remembering that she had been told that burning a candle under a wooden box in the house would frighten the ghosts away, Docie Jones, negro woman, this afternoon tried out the plan. The result was her home and the house occupied by four of her neighbors in a negro settlement of the city were destroyed by fire which for a time threatened to wipe out an entire block.

* * *

HOUSTON.—Warning was given Texas employers today by Brigadier General John A. Hulen of the Texas national guard that any attempts to persuade workmen not to enlist would meet with prompt attention. The warning was given after reports had reached General Hulen that employers of large numbers of men were promising their workmen exemption from draft. A message from Provost Marshal General Crowder says no person has authority to promise exemption to draft eligibles and that no class exemptions have been provided.

DALLAS.—Charges of kidnapping were filed in a justice court here today against Floyd Dowell and Jim Davenport.

The men were being brought here today from Denison, where they were taken into custody last night on information from the Dallas police that they were headed to that city with Martha Clem, the fourteen-year-old daughter of A. Clem. The latter formerly employed the men.

The girl was spirited away last night in an automobile, Clem says. Not long ago, he claims, he discharged the men. He thinks this may have been responsible for their taking the girl to Denison.

The suit is styled P. S. Atkins vs. Curtis Hancock, chairman of the commission, et al. Atkins resides here and is the owner of a car and refuses to pay the registration fee.

It is also claimed that the law is discriminatory. The court did not grant any restraining order, but will consider the case on Monday.

DALLAS.—Recruiting offices here were swamped with applications today as a final drive was made in the nation-wide effort to recruit the army to its full war strength. It was not expected, however, that the desired quota would be obtained.

TEXAS MOTORCYCLIST IS NOW IN THE FAR WEST

The following clipping taken from the San Angelo Herald is of interest to local motorcycle "fans:"

"Traveling 262 miles over all sorts of roads in ten hours, Rural Murray, former San Angelo boy and motorcycle race rider, reached the city Thursday afternoon from Waco, where he is now engaged in the motorcycle agency and repair business in partnership with his brother, Lee Murray. The brothers handle the Harley-Davidson, which Rural Murray has ridden to victory in many races over Texas.

"The trip to San Angelo Thursday was somewhat of a record because of the fact that the Harley carried two passengers. The other beside Murray was Rupert Mason of Waco. The motorcycles left Waco at 6 a. m., came west through Gatesville to Goldthwaite and then followed the Santa Fe into San Angelo. A stop for dinner was made at Coleman and the party arrived here about 4 o'clock.

"Murray and Mason are en route to Amarillo, where Murray plans to enter races to be staged on June 27, 28 and 29. Prizes aggregating $375 are offered."

Mr. Murray won the twenty-five mile race at Amarillo, according to a telegram received last night, in eighteen minutes and 10 seconds, on a flat dirt track, winning a purse of $50.

Ugh! Calomel Sickens; Salivates! Please Try Dodson's Liver Tone

I am sincere! My medicine does not upset liver and bowels so you lose a day's work.

You're bilious! Your liver is sluggish! You feel lazy, dizzy and all knocked out. Your head is dull, your tongue is coated; breath bad; stomach sour, and bowels constipated. But don't take salivating calomel. It makes you sick; you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver, which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel crashes into sour bile like dynamite, breaking it up. Thats when you feel that awful nausea and cramping.

If you want to enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced, just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight. Your druggist or dealer sells you a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone under my personal money-back guarantee that each spoonful will clean your sluggish liver better than a dose of nasty calomel and that it won't make you sick.

Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up feeling fine, your liver will be working, your headache and dizziness gone, your stomach will be sweet and your bowels regular. You will feel like working; you'll be cheerful; full of vigor and ambition.

Dodson's Liver Tone is entirely vegetable, therefore harmless and cannot salivate. Give it to your children. Millions of people are using Dodson's Liver Tone instead of dangerous calomel now. Your druggist will tell you that the sale of calomel is almost stopped entirely here.

Old thots on advertising

Advertising is inviting people to trade with YOU.

The think then to ask yourself, when you think of advertising, is "Why SHOULD they trade with ME?"

This will prompt you to search for, FIND, and RAMIFY the high-spot virtues of your proposition—and these virtues you will make the keynote of your PRINTED STORY.

Tell people something when you address them through the advertising columns of your newspaper. DO this, and you will find no trouble in getting them to READ what you have to say.

But—tell them only what is TRUE! If you advertise LIES, or make phony claims, someone is SURE to get next—the probability is a lot of people will get next—and from then on you will have to work that much harder to CONVINCE them.

The CHEAPEST advertising is TRUTHFUL advertising; and the things to HARP on are the things that are DIFFERENT and NOTEWORTHY about your PLACE, your SERVICE, your WARES!

You are not ready to invite the public IN until you HAVE found or created some specific feature to justify harping—but once you find it, HARP!

Y.W.C.A. IN PLAN FOR CAMP WORK AND WAR SERVICE

MISS MILDRED CORBETT ARRIVES IN WACO FOR CONFERENCES.

Miss Mildred Corbett, southern field secretary of the Young Women's Christian association, is in the city consulting with the officers of the Waco Y. W. C. A. in regard to the special war work to be done here in connection with the training camp.

The National Y. W. C. A. has been officially requested by the war department commission on training camp activities to put expert women workers with girls in communities adjoining training camps, these trained "war secretaries" to have charge of the activities for girls, and to co-operate with the war department commission and the Army Y. M. C. A. in their work for the soldiers.

As Miss Corbett says, the work for the men and the work for the women cannot be separated, and the Y. W. C. A. has taken up its work in a big way. The national war work council of the Y. W. C. A. was organized June 7, and Miss Corbett is in Waco now helping to organize the war work committee here. The committee will serve as a subcommittee of the national war work council, and will be formally appointed by Mrs. John M. Harris, of Dallas, field chairman.

It will arrange for war secretaries to come to Waco and organize recreation girls' clubs and employment work for the girls. The whole program includes the erection of "hospitality bungalows" to care for the visiting families and friends of the soldiers, and for social morality lectures to be given by carefully chosen and selected women physicians.

All of this work is to be paid for from a $1,000,000 fund which is to be raised for the purpose. The first $50,000 was given by the Southern Y. W. C. A., showing their earnest desire to have their "war organization" equipped to carry the girl end of the special war work.

BETHLEHEM TRUCK REPRESENTED HERE

The Herrick Hardware company has secured the agency for the Bethlehem truck, manufactured at Allentown, Pa., the deal having been closed by Mr. Hogan, state factory representative for the Bethlehem people.

The territory allotted embraces twelve counties in Central Texas, taking in Waco and the surrounding towns and counties. The list is an exceptionally good-sized field and offers splendid possibilities.

The Bethlehem truck is made in 1¼ and 2½-ton sizes now, and a little later on a light dispatch truck will be turned out. It is said to be one of the most dependable and economical trucks on the market and has found a very ready demand in every field it has been marketed. The Texas field is exceptionally good for the truck makers, as the people are just becoming educated to their use and efficiency over the old method of hauling.

DOLLINS SUGGESTS MONUMENT TO MEMORY OF LATE WILLIAM CAMERON IN CAMERON PARK

Suggesting that a memorial fountain should be built, and a statue of the late William Cameron erected in Cameron park, in recognition of the gifts of this family to the city, Mayor John Dollins Saturday said:

"It seems to me that this step should be taken, and the people should be delighted to have some chance of showing their appreciation of the splendid gifts from the Cameron family and the Dalton. We could easily raise $15,000 or more for this work, and there are beautiful places in Cameron park where the fountain and statue could be placed.

"The city and the chamber of commerce and Y. M. H. I. could jointly arrange about the needed funds, the city supplying a part and the organizations mentioned getting the remainder. The city could supply all that might be needed, but I believe that the individuals of the city would feel that they had been deprived of a pleasure were they not allowed to aid in such a cause, and that they would like to have a chance to help."

TEXAS TRAVELERS FIRST SESSION FOR NEW MONTH

The Texas Travelers will have their first session for July this morning at the Raleigh beginning at 9:30, to be followed by discussions of questions of importance to the traveling men. The selection of a representative to appear before the railroad commission on July 10 at the hearing on the interchangeable mileage question will be brought up. This representative will work with representatives from other Travelingmen's organizations.

George E. Eubank of the membership committee is sanguine of success in bringing the total enrollment up to the 200 mark at this morning's session.

President J. W. Barnett, who has inaugurated the plan of having some member read a short snappy article of interest at each meeting, has something slated that will be unusually entertaining.

All traveling men, irrespective of membership, are cordially invited to be on hand to enter upon the discussion of railroad, hotel and other matters pertaining to the welfare of the men on the road.

CITY MISSIONARY FEDERATION HELD MEET ON FRIDAY

MRS. SPEER OF AUSTIN HEARD IN ADDRESS ON VICE EVIL IN WAR TIME.

An all-day meeting of the City Federation of Women's Missionary societies was held Friday at the First Baptist church. The meeting was called to order at ten o'clock by the president, Mrs. Lewellyn Aubrey, the audience singing "How Firm a Foundation." The devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. W. A. Wood, scripture reading from Nehemiah, followed with prayer by Mrs. Wood. The roll was called, and despite the warm weather, showed an unusually large attendance. Social service reports followed, Mrs. Jno. F. Rowe chairman. Mrs. J. C. Lattimore spoke in behalf of half holiday for the grocery and market men, urging the women to use their efforts and co-operation toward making it possible for the men to have a half holiday.

Mrs. W. O. Wilkes read the report of the public health nurse, her report showing that since the first of January Miss Edwards had visited 954 patients. This did not include visits made in June, which would increase the number to more than one thousand. Mrs. Wilkes brought before the federation the matter of obtaining a pass from the street railway company for Miss Edwards, and upon motion, a committee was appointed to take this matter up with the city commission, it appearing that this pass could not be granted unless Miss Edwards was vested with police authority.

Report on Tuberculosis.

Miss Minnie Taylor reported the tuberculosis situation in the county, showing the need of a sanitarium to accomodate tubercular cases. Miss Taylor stated that there are perhaps two thousand cases of tuberculosis in the county, and of this number only four cent are partially indigent and forty per cent wholly so.

To the delight of the federation, Mrs. J. W. Carroll gave a splendid rendition of "The Spinning Girl," by Raff.

The reading of the president's message followed, which was heard with deep interest. Mrs. Aubrey took occasion to correct a mistaken impression that the Travelers' Aid at the Cotton Belt is under the direction of the Welfare league. As has always been the case, the Aid at the Cotton Belt is maintained entirely by contributions of the various societies.

Mrs. M. Scarborough, travelers' aid, gave a brief report of her work during the last quarter, she having rendered assistance to five hundred and fourteen people during that time. This completed the program for the morning session, the meeting was dismissed for luncheon by Dr. F. S. Groner.

The body re-assembled at 2 o'clock, the audience singing "America." Mrs. O. E. Arbuckle was devotional leader for the afternoon, drawing a most beautiful lesson from the Book of John, followed with prayer by Mrs. A. D. Adams. Miss Mildred Corbett, Y. W. C. A. field secretary, was introduced and briefly outlined the plan to be followed by the "war women council" same being a work among girls near training camp centers.

Mrs. F. M. Longley reported work being done toward securing half holiday for the business girls, stating that up to this time she had secured almost two dozen signatures to list agreeing to close Friday afternoons during July and August.

Mrs. Speer Heard.

Mrs. Elizabeth Speer of Austin was introduced and delivered a forceful and intensely interesting address as to the moral conditions surrounding the Texas cantonments. Most startling and appalling statements of facts were made by Mrs. Speer in reference to conditions prevailing among European armies, and she appealed to the women to lay aside false modesty and to lend their co-operation in fighting the great social and vice evils.

Mrs. Howard Mann sang the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," the audience joining in the refrain.

The final address of the afternoon was delivered by Mrs. Nannie Webb Curtis, her subject being "Our Responsibility Towards the Waco Cantonment." Mrs. Curtis referred particularly to conditions which existed during the encampment of the troops along the border, following this statement a letter from the secretary of war to the governor of Texas, outlining a plan to prevent a re-currence of these conditions. Mrs. Curtis urged the women of Waco to lend their assistance toward providing clean and wholesome entertainment for the soldiers in the Waco cantonment in order that they may be kept in an efficient condition as soldiers and fit for future citizenship.

The chairman of the resolution committee presented a number of resolutions, which, after some discussion, were adopted, and the meeting was dismissed by Dr. J. M. Dawson.

The Herrick Hardware company reports the following auto sales for the past week: C. T. MURDER CASE OF JULY, 1913, NOW ENDS IN ARREST

FELIX JONES OF EL PASO INDICTED BY DALLAS JURY FOR GIRL'S DEATH.

By Associated Press.

Dallas, June 30.—Felix Jones of El Paso was indicted today by the Dallas county grand jury in connection with the mysterious murder of Florence Brown in a Dallas real estate office in July, 1913. The case attracted wide attention throughout the Southwest.

Jones now is in jail in El Paso on another charge. The county attorney will send an officer to that city to bring him back to Dallas. The grand jury has been working on the case several weeks.

It is said that there will be other important developments in the case.

History of Crime.

Florence Brown was a stenographer, young and pretty, employed in the offices of Robinson & Styron at the time of her death. Employes of the firm found her body in the offices on Field street at 9 o'clock on the morning of July 28, 1913.

Her throat had been cut from ear to ear. She had also received a blow over the right eye and the fingers of her right hand were cut to the bone, showing that she had fought desperately with her assailant.

There was delay in notifying the police, who did not arrive until the girl's body had been carried away in an undertaker's wagon. A bloody towel and a bowl full of blood streaked water in the wash room showed that the murderer had carefully washed his hands before leaving the scene of the crime.

Murderer Covered Up.

He took his weapon with him. No knife, razor, club or pistol was found in the offices. A pearl button was the only clue he left.

Every possible agency worked to solve the crime. Several grand juries investigated it. There was one arrest. Mead Barr, a prisoner in the Illinois state reformatory, was brought to Dallas and charged with the killing. He admitted the crime, but on investigation it was found that he could not have possibly killed the girl.

Florence Brown was well known in church and social circles. Her father, J. Randolph Brown, a police officer, was the first official summoned to investigate her killing.

The local authorities are reticent as to the testimony adduced before the grand jury which connects Jones with the case. It is said to be largely circumstantial.

Claimed Waco as Home.

Jones has claimed Fort Worth, Waco, Merkel and Abilene as his home, but it is said that the latter place has the most claim to his residence. He is being held at El Paso in connection with the death of Thomas Lyons, a Silver City, N. M., millionaire cattleman, whose lifeless body was found in the Highland Park section of El Paso last May.

He is about 40 years old and married.

The last person to have seen Miss Brown alive was S. B. Cuthbertson, who was employed by the firm for which she was stenographer. He drove her to the office in a company automobile on the morning of the crime and after letting her into the office and turning on the lights, left the office in her charge while he went to the court house.

JONES DENIES CRIME.

By Associated Press.

El Paso, June 30.—Felix R. Jones of Fort Worth, in the county jail here on a charge of murder in connection with the killing of Thomas Lyons of New Mexico, denied having any part in the murder of Florence Brown in Dallas.

"All I know of the case was what I read about in the papers while I was at home in Abilene," Jones said today. "I was in Abilene at the time and did not know the Brown girl."

FOUR WEEKS IN HOSPITAL

No Relief—Mrs. Brown Finally Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cleveland, Ohio.—"For years I suffered so sometimes it seemed as though I could not stand it any longer. It was all in my lower organs. At times I could hardly walk, for if I stepped on a little stone I would almost faint. One day I did faint and my husband was sent for and the doctor came. I was taken to the hospital and stayed four weeks but when I came home I would faint just the same and had the same pains.

A friend who is a nurse asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began taking it that very day for I was suffering a great deal. It has already done me more good than the hospital. To anyone who is suffering as I was my advice is to stop in the first drug-store and get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before you go home."—Mrs. W. C. BROWN, 1344 W. 12th St., Cleveland, Ohio.

23 STATES BONE DRY AFTER MIDNIGHT BY NEW REED AMENDMENT

By Associated Press.

Washington, June 30.—Twenty-three states will be "bone dry" after midnight tonight, the effective hour of the Reed amendment prohibiting shipping of liquor into any territory where its manufacture or sale is prohibited. Eleven other states are partially affected by the legislation which has been hailed by temperance advocates as the greatest single step toward abolition of the liquor traffic yet taken in the nation's history.

The law bars from prohibition areas whether states or smaller corporations all mail matter containing advertisements or solicitations for orders for intoxicants, a provision designed to aid in enforcing the anti-shipment feature by suppressing the activities of mail order houses in dry territory.

GETS INTEREST ON $2,250 FROM YEAR OF 1854

UNIQUE VERDICT IS RETURNED IN CASE AT WICHITA FALLS COURT SATURDAY.

By Associated Press.

Wichita Falls, June 30.—A verdict for $2,250—largely the valuation of three slaves—with interest at six per cent since 1854 was returned by a jury in the 78th Wichita county district court here today, in favor of J. C. Blagg, formerly of Iowa Park, Texas, but now residing in Arkansas.

Back in 1854, in Sebastian county, Ark., Samuel Bragg, father of the plaintiff in the present case, died leaving an estate composed of two farms, five slaves and a number of horses and mules. In 1885 Samuel Blagg's widow married with a Blagg who qualified as guardian for J. C. Blagg, then a mere lad. The elder Blagg was defendant in the suit, the plaintiff claiming that his guardian converted the property of his father's estate and made no accounting for it.

Two of the slaves were sold for $1,000 each and the other for $700 plaintiff alleged. The remaining two remained with the estate until emancipated.

Since the filing of the suit, the defendant, over eighty years of age, died, and his executor acted as defendent. The plaintiff is now past 70 years of age.

The case was submitted on special issues, one of which dealt with the value of the slaves.

MUCH PROGRESS IS REPORTED UPON FOOD BILL IN SENATE NOW

By Associated Press.

Washington, June 30.—Much progress toward a compromise on prohibition in the food control bill was made today by the senate.

Sentiment favored a sub-prohibition section following the lines of President Wilson's suggestion to prohibition leaders to drop the fight against the manufacture of beer and wines.

Senator Chamberlain drafted a tentative section which would stop manufacture of distilled beverages only without giving the president any authority over malt and vinous beverages. This draft will be considered tomorrow at a special meeting of the senate agriculture committee.

Senator Chamberlain said tonight it was not probable that the bill would be passed before the Fourth of July recess.

GOVERNOR SAYS TAPS SOUNDED ON A.-M. SITES

REFUSES TO ACCEPT STATEMENT THAT CHOICE OF ABILENE WAS IRREGULAR.

By Associated Press.

Austin, June 30.—There will be no rehearing on the question of selecting a site for the location of the West Texas A. & M. college, declared Governor Ferguson, chairman of the locating committee, today. He insisted Abilene was fairly selected as the site for the establishment of the new college. The governor stated positively that Abilene had received three votes on the second ballot and that he saw the three votes, and that Lieutenant Governor Hobby and W. E. Thomason, secretary of the board, saw them.

"The matter is not only settled," said Governor Ferguson today, "but honestly, and fairly settled, and after due deliberation, it was unanimously decided to accept Abilene's offer, and the minutes of the secretary will so show."

Secretary Thomason of the board said he saw the three votes in favor of Abilene on the second ballot. "I will make an affidavit," said Mr. Thomason, "that Abilene received three votes on the second ballot and on the third the vote was made unanimous for Abilene."

Commissioner of Agriculture Davis, a member of the board, said today he did not vote for Abilene at all, that on the first and second ballots he voted for Snyder. He stated, further, that he was satisfied with the decision of a majority of the committee.

Lieutenant Governor Hobby left the city last night, presumably for his home, but last evening before his departure he is credited with having stated that on the first ballot he voted for San Angelo and on the second for Amarillo. As to Speaker Fuller, he is credited with having voted for Haskell on the first ballot, but it is not known how he voted on the second ballot, although he is quoted as saying that he did not vote for Abilene. The speaker left for his home last night.

State Superintendent Doughty, the fifth member of the board, is at New Braunfels today, but he is known to have consistently voted for Abilene, as did the governor. The governor considers the matter closed and does not propose to call the committee for further consideration of the proposition. Most of the delegations here representing various towns which were after the college have left for their homes.

HOW OLD IS HE? HELD TO GRAND JURY

School records, the testimony of neighbors, and other forms of testimony, were used Saturday in trying to establish the age of Nail Lehman, young man of Ocee, this county, who was before United States Commissioner A. P. McCormick on a charge of failure to register for military service.

Lehman claimed that he is not yet 21 years old, but testimony was produced to show that he was 21 last December, which would make him subject to duty. Lehman's bond was fixed at $2,500, which he gave and was released. He will be held on this bond to await action by the federal grand.

Crazed, it is believed, by one or two drinks and the intense heat of Saturday afternoon, a negro woman went up and down Sixth street screaming for ten to fifteen minutes about 5 o'clock. The woman was finally taken in charge by parties and carried away.

COLD AND LEGAL VIEW OF PROMISE TO WED WOMAN

MARTIN LITTLETON DISCUSSES BREACH OF PROMISE CASES AND WARNS UNWARY.

Special to The News.

New York, June 30.—"If a man promises to marry a woman and the woman promises to marry the man, a civil contract has been entered into, and, so long as they are both competent to contract and there has been no fraud, it doesn't make a particle of difference what their motive was—money, marbles, or jackstraws—a valid contract has been entered into, a contract which, if either party backs out, can be cashed in before a judge and jury. We talk of the 'sacredness of marriage,' of 'marriage sanctified by love,' but in the making of the marriage contract love is not an essential. There need be no higher motive than that which enters into a horse deal. This is the cold, bleak policy of the law of the state of New York, established by a leading decision."

Manning's Lawyer.

The man who said this was Martin W. Littleton, the lawyer whose client, 85-year-old John B. Manning, has just had a judgment rendered against him for $250,000 (breaking all previous records) for his failure to marry Honora May O'Brien, 28 years old, poor, and confessedly "tired of the drudgery of life." Under cross-examination, Miss O'Brien frankly admited that she did not love and never had loved the old man whose failure to marry her was the fruitful source of her complaint to judge and jury.

"There is no question about it; this is the bald attitude of the law toward the inception of what is supposedly the tender tie of marriage," said Mr. Littleton during a talk after the verdict had been rendered. "My client, however, has fought the case from the beginning and will fight the present judgment in the higher courts to reverse the policy. This we need not go into now.

"What ought to make this case of special value to the public is that it presents a vivid picture, emphasized by the size of the verdict, of the curious attitude of the law toward breach of promise. In these cases there is usually some allegation of the broken heart for which financial balm is sought in court. But the present case is without romance or tenderness. It gives us a picture of a young woman entering into a marriage contract with an old man for business reasons only.

"If marriage and its fruits are to constitute the basis of civil society; if, as an institution, it is to be regarded as the anchorage of civilization; if it is not simply to be prostituted to the size of the purse and degraded to the level of the dollar; if, in short, it is to be that desirable state of union between men and women toward which the young people of the country can look, as they grow up, with hope and veneration, the law should not strip the agreement which is its prelude of all tenderness, leaving only the bare, bleak elements of a civil contract. If the law is to put its sanction, expressed in tempting verdicts, upon the shameless pursuit of dying old men by vigorous but work-weary young women, then the law is going to denude the contract of marriage of all sacredness.

Disappointed Love.

"Of course, we all understand the classical case of disappointed love, accompanied by perfidious conduct. In cases where a man and woman of about equal age agree to establish this life partnership on a basis of mutual love and a mutual adjustment of temperament, and where one of them throws the other over—in these cases every one feels that there has been, not only a breach of contract, but a breach of faith from which flows a genuine damage to the person abandoned."

"Then you make no distinction between the man and the woman?" I asked.

"The law makes none," Mr. Littleton replied, adding quickly: "But, personally, I am so much of a man's man, so hostile to the modern program of disturbing the old-fashioned romantic relations of the sexes, that I cannot indorse any policy which allows a man to go whining into court about his love affairs.

"And in the few cases of this kind that have been brought, the juries, so far as I have observed their decisions, have adopted the same attitude of disapproval. The law gives these men their rights, but the juries assess their damage. 'Ruzzie Lambs' usually get a six-cent erdict.

"But there is no question that this policy of reducing marriage to the basis of a civil contract enables men to go into court with breach of promise marriage suits. If our feminist sisters, of both sexes, continue the present successful spread of their propaganda there is no doubt that we will hear far more of these male complaints, and the juries will doubtless mete out the same damages that they would to a complaining female.

The Blackmailer.

"At the present time, however, the practical effect of this right of a man to sue for a breach of promise—aside from the actions of a few 'Ruzzie Lambs'—is to put a weapon in the hand of the blackmailer. A number of instances have come under my own notice of young women of good families, who have had clandestine flirtations with scalawags, letters more or less amatory have been exchanged, and these are used as the evidental basis for a threatened suit. To avoid the notoriety the family settle out of court. It is what the scoundrels reckon on, and their reckoning is seldom wrong.

"The same thing may be said of the great majority of suits brought by women. This breach of promise industry is much bigger and more profitable than most people suppose."

"But if a man has the courage to face notoriety and goes to court to fight the matter out, doesn't the jury usually favor the woman?" was asked. The question voiced the opinion often heard in general conversation.

"On the contrary. A great percentage of cases are thrown out. The reason is that no evidence, or insufficient evidence, is presented to the jury to convince them that a deliberate contract of marriage was entered into.

"But what constitutes legal evidence that a deliberate contract of marriage was entered into? The man who thinks that he must ask a woman, in so many plain words, to marry him, and that he is not enmeshed in an engagement until he has done so, is mistaken.

"The law says that no formal words are necessary to constitute a contract to marry; nor is it necessary that there should be an express promise in direct terms; but such a promise may be inferred from, or established by, the facts and circumstances, although it is unspoken. All that is necessary is that the parties shall understand it is their intention to marry.

How Proved.

"A promise to marry may be proved by direct or circumstantial evidence. Subject to the general rules of evidence, any evidence which legitimately tends to throw light on the actual relations of the parties in respect to the matters at issue is admissible, as, for instance, circumstances before the promise tending to show the relations of the parties and the feeling between them at the time of the alleged promise, the nature and extent of the acquaintance of the parties prior to the promise, the affection of plaintiff for defendant, an offer to perform and a demand for performance, attempts of plaintiff to communicate with defendant, the understanding of friends and relations, the reception accorded to either party by the family of the other, the home surroundings of plaintiff, a change in the religious affiliation of the plaintiff after the contract.

"So we see that, all considered, there are a good many sources from which evidence may be extracted to build up proof of a deliberate intention to marry. And when a convincing quantity of this evidence is presented to the jury, damages are almost invariably awarded the complaining woman."

"Isn't beauty a big asset to the complainant when the jury has leeway in determining a question of fact or the amount of damage that has been suffered?"

With a smile, Mr. Littleton philosophized:

The Snare.

"Beauty is always pleasant to the eye and grace soothing to the nerves. I think that, under such influences, the minds of the jurymen are more malleable. Nobody likes to look at an ugly thing; and if required to look at it long, he turns against it and unconsciously seeks for something other than its ugliness to account for his antagonism.

"Among the paradoxes of the law governing the contract to marry is the fact that the love which one party shows by his conduct he bears the other is accepted as evidence of an intention to enter a contract to marry; but yet this love is not a requisite to the contract iself. Love letters are excellent evidence, but that of which they talk is no part of the bargain.

"Another paradox is that, under a general allegation of damages, a complainant may recover not only an indemnity for pecuniary loss and the disappointment of reasonable expectation of an advantageous settlement in life, but also compensation for injury to feelings and affections. In other words, if a man breaks his contract to marry, he must pay for such heart wounds as he may have inflicted, but he cannot condition the performance of the contract upon the woman giving him a little heart comfort.

"Still another paradox is that the law curiously makes it possible for a man and a woman to get into a contract of marriage without sentiment. Then it suddenly invests the whole situation with a sacredness which the contract never had, and says inexorably that you can't get out of it short of a revolution. It seems to me that a relationship which is treated with so much jealous solicitude after it is entered into should not be treated so lightly in the making.

"In short, the contract to marry, as defined by the law, is a bony, loveless engagement shorn of sentiment, robbed of love, even of lust, resting solely on lucre. And the element of damage, in the event of breach, is just as barren of sentiment as is the contract. It is simply what the woman lost in money value and worldly advantage, and nothing more.

"The church and the state, society and the community, should sternly set itself against such bargaining in the name of such a sacred institution. If people come into court and show no more than that their designs to get money have been disappointed and their desires to capture fortunes from old age, mental incapacity, or other unnatural alliance, have failed, the law should leave them in the midst of their disappointment and consign them to the ignominy of their failure.

"My professional advice is that a man had better keep his eye open or he is apt to get hooked. And any rich old lady who is inclined to be a little giddy had better watch out, or some young social slacker 'll git 'er."

"I say, old deah, did you know that an English nobleman was the first white man to use this bally nicotine?"

"Aw, Raleigh?"—Jack o' Lantern.

"THE FLAME OF THE YUKON" AT HIPPODROME.

Malamutes and wolves figure largely in the latest Triangle drama, "The Flame of the Yukon," in which Dorothy Dalton is featured at the Hippodrome today and tomorrow.

The story is laid during the stirring days of the Alaskan gold rush. Dog teams, of course furnished the sole means of transportation. In the picturesque street erected for this picture, are seen the "huskies" arriving for the gold fields with their heavy sledges. Without their aid it would have been impossible to film the picture with any degree of veracity.

"The Flame of the Yukon" is a story of Alaska during the stirring days when men went mal for the muck called "gold." Dorothy presents a striking figure as the northern "Dance Hall Carmen" whose better nature is brought out by a weather bitten stranger who wanders into her realm.

PURITY SQUAD TAKES 104 HOUSES IN DRAGNET ON DRIVE SINCE JUNE SIXTH

Startling developments have come to light as a result of thorough work of the "purity squad" of the police department, and more than 104 places of immoral character have been broken up since June 6 when Police Officers Lee Huff and Joe Rutland were detailed to this task.

Speaking of the work done Saturday Officers Huff and Rutland said:

"We have been astounded at the size of the task to which we were assigned, and although we have done a lot of unearthing of disorderly characters women and men, yet there is much more to do.

"We have found cases of this kind fifteen or twenty blocks in every direction from the city hall, scattered among the residences. We are not overlooking men as we go along and have our eye on a lot of others who are to be taken in.

"In one case we arrested the husband, father, son and daughter, all in one house; the mother in this case was arrested a second time, as she did not leave town, as she promised to do, and is now in jail."

If Too Fat Get Fresh Air

HOW YOU MAY REDUCE A POUND DAILY AND IMPROVE HEALTH AMAZINGLY.

Lack of fresh air, it is said, weakens the oxygen-carrying power of the blood, the liver becomes sluggish, fat accumulates, the heart action becomes weak, work is an effort and the beauty of the figure is destroyed.

Fat put on by indoor life is unhealthy and, if nature is not assisted in throwing it off, a serious case of obesity may result.

Don't wait until your health is ruined through carrying around a burden of unsightly and unhealthy fat.

Spend some time daily in the open air; breathe deeply, and get from any druggist a box of oil of korein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night, also following the other simple directions that come with the box.

Weigh yourself every few days and keep up the treatment until you are down to normal. Oil of korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, helps the digestion, and even a few days' treatment is likely to show a noticeable reduction in weight. This system has succeeded when other remedies, etc., have failed. It is the delight of those who wish to improve their figure and acquire younger appearance.

UNIVERSITY TO BE CAMPAIGNED THRUOUT TEXAS

ADDITIONAL COMMITTEES ARE NAMED AND CONFERENCES HELD AT AUSTIN.

Activities in the governor-university controversy may see some rapid developments in the next few weeks. Additional men are being appointed on the committee boards nearly every day and it is understood that plans are under way to launch a widespread publicity campaign that will enlighten every citizen in Texas on the subject.

Edgar Witt, a well known attorney of Waco, has recently been placed upon the publicity committee and will devote his interests in an official capacity to pushing the campaign.

O. H. Cross was called to Austin Friday for a consultation with members of the university board on important matters. He will return to Waco Sunday. Mr. Cross has been doing active work in connection with the university's struggle for a fair deal ever since the trouble first started and will be a vluable asset to the executive board.

With Edgar Witt, O. H. Cross, W. W. Woodson, all of Waco, on the citizens' advisory board, and such workers as D. C. Wood and Miss Grace Prather of the ex-Students' association of this city, university officials may rest assured that Waco will hold up her end of the fight until the matter is righted.

DISCUSS REVISION OF TRAFFIC RULES IN WACO BUT STEPS NOT TAKEN

While there has been some discussion of revised traffic rules to meet the requirements of the new automobile regulations, there has been no active steps taken in Waco to date.

The tail light ordinance is being rigidly enforced and a day seldom passes that some speeder is not apprehended. The men who have charge of the traffic on the uptown streets have it well in hand and if any changes are made in the traffic laws it will be to meet the new state requirements and further insure the safety of travel on crowded streets.

One feature that is covered by the new state law that will be of great benefit is the clause covering the use of dinners at all times. This has been the cause of many of the accidents in the past and once the glaring lights are stopped many accidents will stop, is the opinion of many drivers.

LAST DAY OF REVIVAL AT TABERNACLE TODAY

Evangelist Klein talked to new converts at the Morrow street tabernacle last night. He warned them that they would be tempted, as even Christ was tempted; told them not to be confident in their own strength, but to trust Christ and keep their eyes on Him; and to realize that He is able to help them in all times of need. He also showed them the necessity of attending the services of the church and of reading God's word, as a means of preventing apostacy.

Mr. Klein will preach this morning at 11 o'clock, his subject being, "How May We Never Have a Dull Service?" At 8 p. m. the evangelist will preach the closing sermon of the great campaign, which has resulted in the conversion of so many.

SENATE REVISE OF TAX BILL IS NOW COMPLETE

PASSED HOUSE FIVE WEEKS AGO AND CONFERENCE MUST SETTLE DETAILS.

By Associated Press.

Washington, June 30.—Revision of the $1,800,000,000 war tax bill passed by the house five weeks ago was completed today by the senate financial committee. The measure virtually was rewritten and reduced to $1,652,170,000 wtih no authorization of additional bonds. The final draft was sent to the printer tonight and will be given formal committee approval Monday and reported to the senate by Chairman Simmons early next week.

Incomes and excess profits will bear about two thirds of the new tax burdens under the revised bills—about a half billion dollars each—with a large share of the remainder secured from liquors and tobaccos. Many house taxes were entirely eliminated by the committee and others added.

Radical increase of taxes on war excess profits of corporations partnerships and individuals, decided upon today and enabled the committee to dispense with the suggestion made of additional bond issue of from $500,000,000 to $1,000,000,000.

Senator Stone withdrew an amendment for a $500,000,000 issue.

Hitting Publishers.

As finally drafted the much debated publishers tax section proposes a five per cent tax upon publishers profits over $4000 yielding $7,500,000 revenue and an increase of one-fourth cent a pound in second class postage rates yielding $3,000,000. Excess profits due to the war under the revised bill would bear $730,000,000 in taxes graduated from 12 to 40 per cent according to the proportion of excess. This is an increase of $505,000,000 over such taxes under the present law of which repeal is proposed and $300,000,000 more than was proposed by the house bill.

From income taxes $532,700,000 would be raised, $66,000,000 less than the house provided—the decrease being made entirely upon incomes of $40,000,000 annually and above—with the committee approving the house plan for lowering income tax exemptions to $1,000 for single persons, $2000 for married persons, added normal taxes of two per cent upon incomes up to $5000 and surtaxes graduated from one to thirty-three per cent upon larger incomes.

The income also changed the plan for collecting income taxes from that of "collection at the source," to "information at the source" to accomplish direct payment.

Strike Out Tariff Tax.

The committee struck out entirely house ten per cent general tariff tax upon virtually all imports estimated to raise $200,000,000. It substituted consumption taxes totaling $68,000,000 and bearing more directly upon consumers of half a cent a pound on sugar, two cents on coffee, five cents on tea and three cents on cocoa and substitutes.

All Spanish war stamp taxes would be virtually re-emposed under the bill.

Other changes in the revised bill include a prohibitive tax to stop manufacture of distilled beverages while taxes on other intoxicants are virtually doubled; elimination of house taxes of $6,000,000 on inheritances and $108,000,000 retractive taxes upon 1916 incomes.

Believing a compromise on prohibition legislation will not stop consumption and revenue yield from distilled spirits, beer or wines, the committee made little change in the house liquor taxes.

"It was terribly sad. On Sunday 90 victims had already been buried. One woman who has already lost four sons in the field, has now lost three daughters in the explosion. It is stranger that the Westphalen newspapers give no report of the accident.

CHARACTER OF GROWTH IMPORTANT FACTOR IN BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT

The stability of any enterprise is shown, not merely by its growth in a given length of time, but by the character of the growth, and the solid basis on which it is founded, in the opinion of Tom Caldwell, manufacturer of Caldwell's Auto Shin'O.

This is also the test, he thinks, of the growth of a community, and is the reason for his frequent expressions of faith in the future of Waco and all of Central Texas. In pushing the sale of Auto Shin'O, Mr. Caldwell travels all over the state, and in his opinion, while the dry weather has resulted in the failure of the expected now in the beginning of an era of unnevertheless he thinks that Texas is grain crop in some sections this year parallelled prosperity, which will be assisted rather than retarded by the war.

"Notwithstanding the feeling of uncertainty in the minds of many people regarding the war," says Mr. Caldwell, "I find that most business men are in an extremely optimistic frame of mind. And the bigger and better the business man the more inclined he is to look on the bright side of life.

"I find this reflected in the sale of Auto Shin'O. The more enterprising the dealer the more eager he is to grasp this opportunity to serve his patrons better by taking on a supply of a superior auto polish. There have been unsatisfactory polishes put out of course, and many of them had a bad effect on the paint of the car, while most of them attracted dust and lost their lustre when dust covered. All that I need to do in most cases is to make a demonstration of the dust proof qualities of Shine'O and show its right to be called the maker of 'The Shine That Won't Come Off,' to make the sale.

"Yes business is good. Repeat orders are coming in right along and that is the sort of business that I like because it shows the real merit of this Waco-made product."

Girls' Honor Guard Camp at Wichita Falls Over Which Miss Virginia Lazenby of Waco Commanded

Special to The News.

Wichita Falls, Texas, June 30.—The second encampment of the Girls' National Honor Guard of the southern division is now written as a success accomplished and 150 Texas and Oklahoma girls have returned to their homes thoroughly enthused over the mission of the Girls National Honor Guard and filled with a desire to serve the country in the present crisis in the most practicable manner.

This Wichita Falls encampment, known as Camp Huff, was one where the girls spent the greater part of their time at Red Cross classes. The higher officials of the Honor Guard in the state, Major Virginia Lazenby of Waco, Aide to the Commandant Genevieve Carver of Wichita Falls, and Adjutant Ruth Sears of Amarillo, have decided that in assisting the Red Cross the girls can render the most efficient aid to the government in war times and arranged their camp schedule accordingly. As the Honor Guard entails no obligations for service outside of the home city of the members unless they so desire, the home work of the Red Cross could be undertaken without interfering with the present status of the guard.

Scientifically Planned.

The camp itself was laid out along scientific military lines by Capt. Robert D. Gordon, of the United States Reserve Corps and was a perfect model of an army camp. Captain Gordon acted as commandant with Sergeant Ray Connelly, Kansas National Guard, as his drill sergeant to instruct the girls in semi-military physical drills. Both the captain and the sergeant were called into service before the encampment, ended, the captain to training at Governor's Island, New York, in preparation for foreign service. Thus the war was brought very close to the girls, for they had come to respect and admire very much the genial captain and the sergeant as well and the realization that they were in service of their country acted as an inspiration upon the Honor Guards who had been learning lessons of patriotism from them.

Classes in the Red Cross work were conducted by Dr. Everett Jones of Wichita Falls, in charge of other physicians who volunteered their services. Certificates were given those girls who successfully passed the examination given at the close of the camp.

The camp kept regular army hours and everything was carried out on the bugle calls. The routine included morning setting up exercises, swimming lessons, Red Cross classes, afternoon recreation, another swim, short drill and patriotic exercises at retreat every night. There were also several cross-country hikes. And, of course, mess call three times a day found every one of the 150 girls on hand with their tin plates, cups and their knives and forks. There were two large mess tents where the girls ate, after having been served from huge wash boilrs filled with regulation army "chow."

Time for Play.

In all the routine the girls found time for their sport and being southern girls, full of life and spirit, their recreation was filled with originality. Many of the girls were accomplished singers and musicians and the Tyler and Waco guards kept the camp enlivened with their rollicking music. Major Virginia Lazenby of Waco, the ranking officer of the guard at the encampment, was mistress of ceremonies when it came time to get out the camp Victrola and others of the company were experts on the ukulele, banjo, mandolin and guitar. The ex-Captain Lucy Morr, stripped of her rank by reason of disobedience to orders, did not let the disgrace sadden her life at camp, but took part in everything on foot.

The little major was one of the prominent figures in the encampment and ruled with an iron hand when necessity demanded. Like all good soldiers she knew neither friend nor foe among those in her command. When once the Waco society girl had donned the khaki knickerbockers and blouse of the Honor Guard uniform she assumed the task of disciplining the camp and she performed her duty rigorously. The former Tyler captain can testify to this, as can others, even to members of her own family. Major Lazenby with her staff, Misses Carver and Sears, managed the affairs of Camp Huff quite ably, all three of the guards having been officers at the first encampment, with Miss Lazenby as ranking officer both years. With the assistance of the captain and the sergeant and the three captains of the Honor Guard companies arranged for the encampment, Captain Lila McClelland of Clarendon, Captain Gertrude Jacoby of Dallas, and Captain Thelma Norton of Hico, the three righer officers gave the girls lessons in discipline and obedience that could not fail but to have a good effect.

The 1918 encampment will depend in a large measure on the conditions of the nation at that time. Whatever happens the Girls National Honor Guard units which the 150 splendid young women at Camp Huff represented, will be found serving their country in the way that will count for the most.

Complies With Texas State Law

Waco Endorses It

The Warner-Lenz complies with every traffic law.

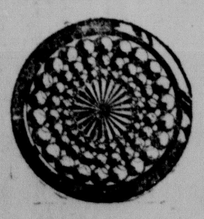
450,000 motorists and the makers of 18 famous cars all indorse this all-revealing, glareless light.

Some lights are permitted here and barred there. Others comply with city ordinances and violate state laws. The Warner-Lenz is legal everywhere. A mighty valuable point when touring. You have double protection with Warner-Lenz, your own safety and the law.

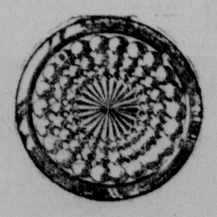
The Warner-Lenz best solves the headlight problem. It lights the roadside, it lights the turns. It lights the road from 300 to 500 feet ahead. It lights a whole half-circle ahead of the driver, and lights it all like daylight.

176 Lenses in One

It utilizes all your light, but it diffuses the rays. There are 176 lenses in one. So, instead, there's a wealth of soft, clear. penetrating light.



Warner-Lenz light is the same in every position. Turning of the lens in the door of headlamp does not affect it, nor does rise or fall of the car. This is vitally important.



Equip immediately and comply with new state law in effect July 1st. This Law forbids glaring shaft lights.

Left Handers Prove No Bogey to Waco and Navigators Win 6 to 1

TAKE SHREVEPORT TO CLEANING YESTERDAY WITH THE MERCURY AT 100.

BY POP BOONE.

Left-handers as a general rule
Are erratic in the forehead—
When they're good they're awful good
And when they're bad they're horrid.
—Unknown Pote.

Two left-handers went to the mound together yesterday—Watson for Sweespote and Jess Petty for Waco. Watson ran the left-hander scale of bad pitching while Petty could have walloped the Boston Red Sox without getting up a persperswear. The game, which was copped by Waco 6 to 1, was as good a demonstration of left-handers as ever was paralleled.

Take Watson's example first: McMahon, whom Hardy carries largely because of his well-known liking for left-handed pitchers, slapped a ball through the box for a scratch hit. When Wotell bunted, the pitcher grasped the ball firmly and quickly by its handle—and flung it ten feet wide of the first-baseman. Then after what was scored as a passed ball, but which was as much a wild pitch, the flinger proceeded to smash a curve into Leslie's much-abused person. Then, with three on and no one out, the pitcher thought it over. Only one trick was left in his repertory. He had allowed a hit to get through him, had thrown a ball away, had heaved a wild pitch, had hit a man—all he had left was a walk. So, not wishing to overlook any bets, he proceeded to issue a free pass to Jesse James.

Pretty good work for four men, wasn't it? Boss Sid, evidenly was afraid the boy would invent some new thing to do, like throwing the ball over the grandstand or through the wire or something like that, so he popped up off his soda-water box and sent Watson to the hotel.

The youngster had given a grand demonstration of how bad a left-hander can be when he's bad.

Petty, on the other hand, walked out there and gave a most elegant demonstration of how good a left-hander can be when he's good. Boy, that lefty packed some stuff! And control? Lis-ten:

In the second inning, Catcher Hager was first at bat. Lefty slid two fine strikes down the slot and Hager watched 'em slide. He evidently thought the left-hander wouldn't give him another. But he had another guess coming. Hayes waved the batter back to the bench. Then Les Tullos came up. Petty duplicated the feat with detail and dispatch—three pitched balls and a strike out. Then Al Nixon walked up with his big club. Petty laid the first one over and Al fouled it. Then another was a bee square over and Nixon hit to the pitcher, who deflected the ball over to Busby and the runner was nabbed with a quick throw.

There you are—eight pitched balls and all of 'em strikes.

He had so much control he wasn't in the hole on a single batter in the nine innings. It is true Carroll was hit by a pitched ball, but the stayer crowds the plate and the ball just kicked his uniform. In fact, it is doubtful if anyone in the park heard the tick except Hayes. Some control for a left-hander, eh?

When Buddy Napier took up the burden of pitching with three on, no one out and a run on the scorebook, Tanner was the first man to face the veteran. Buddy hit a low fly to right that Flynn made a desperate attempt to catch, but failed to quite hang on to. This scored Wotell. Grubb fanned, but Leslie scored when Malmquist hit to Tullos and Leslie beat the throw to the plate. In fact, the ball hit the first baseman as he crossed the plate. Vann then hit a fast one between first and second that McLarry knocked down but couldn't handle and James scored. Petty forced Tanner at the plate, but McMahon delivered his second hit in the inning, scoring Malmquist with the fifth run. Wotell grounded to Tullos for the third out.

Waco added another to the string in the fourth when McMahon cracked out his third hit. Wotell was the victim of a pop-up in spoiling a waste on a hit-and-run signal, but Leslie picked one for a two-bagger that scored Mack from first. James also hit safely, but Leslie was out at the plate when Hager blocked him off and tagged him after he got up and started to the bench.

Petty's only trouble came as the result of the only error of an otherwise perfect and brilliant support. Flynn led off the seventh with a hit to right. Hager grounded out to third. Tullos then hit a long drive to center which McMahon judged perfectly and made a perfect run for. But he muffed the ball and Flynn took third. Nixon then singled for the only Shreveport run.

The club left for Shreveport and will be gone in North Texas until July 12, when it will open a home stretch of sixteen games in fourteen days. Score of the Saturday game:

WAGNER NOW IS BOSS

By Associated Press.

Pittsburgh, June 30.—James J. Callahan, manager of the Pittsburgh National league baseball club, was today relieved of the position and it was announced that John H. (Hans) Wagner had been appointed temporary manager.

Dissatisfaction among members of the team and the consequent poor showing of the team this season were blamed by many, upon Callahan.

Wagner, it is said, has refused to become manager permanently.

PENELOPE DROPS GAME

Special to The News.

Penelope, June 30.—In a fast game of ball here today, Birome defeated Penelope by the score of 10 to 8. The feature of the game was the hard hitting of the Birome team, nearly every member slugging out an extra hit. The Penelope team played fast ball but could not deliver the goods in the pinches. Batteries: Penelope, Henderson and Garnett; Birome, Deal and Douglas.

When at the age of forty a man meets a woman he vainly loved at twenty he realizes that luck was with him, after all.

Don't wait for great opportunities. A long continuous walk will get you over more ground than a short run.

13 INNINGS TIED HOUSTON-FT. WORTH

By Associated Press.

Houston, June 30.—Through thirteen innings Houston and Fort Worth battled today to a 3-3 tie. For a climax, Umpire Paul Sentell banished both Stow and Atz from the park in the twelfth. This left two pitchers on the visitors' infield. Police were called to get Stow off the field after he tried to get to the umpire. The banishment followed long and loud protests on a decision of a foul down the third-base line. Stellbauer put Houston in the lead with a home run drive over the left-field fence in the second. Fort Worth scored two in the third. Stellbauer doubled and scored a tying run in the fourth. Each team scored a run in the twelfth. Darkness stopped play with players of each team fighting for an advantage. Score:

CHICAGO GRAIN.
Chicago, June 30.—Urgent demand today for corn for immediate delivery brought about the highest prices ever reached in the corn market here. No. 2 yellow, a regular contract grade, commanding $1.76 a bushel. The market closed unsettled with gains from ½ to 1½c. Wheat showed an advance of ½ to 1c net, with July at $2.02 and September at $1.82. Oats would up ½ to ⅝c higher. In provisions, the outcome ranged from 25c decline to a rise of 5c.
Influential traders in corn appeared to be much impressed by scarcity of corn available for ready shipment. Wheat and oats hardened in sympathy with corn bulge. Wheat bears had an advantage in the early trading, though on account of the announcements that the first new wheat this season had arrived at the Atlantic seaboard ready for shipment to Europe.
Considerable apprehension for the safety of oats resulted from word of higher temperatures in prospect.

MARKETS

NEW YORK COTTON.
New York, June 30.—Prices fluctuated irregularly in the cotton market here this morning with trading quiet and believed to be largely in the way of evening up commitments for over the week-end and the government report on Monday. After an early decline to 26.27, October rallied to 26.51 and closed at 26.36, with the general list closing irregular, net one point higher to 8 points lower.
An opening advance of 10 to 12 points reflected covering on continued drouth complaints from the southwest and talk of low-condition figures. Considerable realizing was encountered around the initial prices and reactions followed to 26.48 for July and 26.36 for December. This carried the active months about 7 to 15 points under last night's closing figures, where the market again was steadied by covering. Reports of rising temperatures from Texas and the outlook for generally clear weather over Sunday in that section probably served to stimulate buying but after selling at 26.90 for July and 26.70 for December or 12 to 16 points net higher the market turned easier under renewed realizing.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.
New Orleans, June 30.—Liquidation was the most prominent influence in the cotton market here today and it worked against prices moderately. It was stimulated by expectations of the bureau reports due Monday, also to some extent by the rains in the eastern half of the belt. The weather, however, was fairly evenly balanced, rains being offset to a great extent by the drouth and high temperatures in the western belt.
Around the opening and toward the middle of the session, the market was at a net advance, active months at their highest being 3 to 8 points over yesterday's closing price. The selling out of contracts by the long side put the market to a net decline of 12 to 17 points. Closing prices showed a net loss of 12 to 16 points.

NEW YORK DRY GOODS.
New York, June 30.—Cotton goods and yarns closed firm today with a further rising tendency. Knit goods are being opened for next spring.
